Urge One-Mill Levy to Pay for Extra Firemen

SOLONS WOULD PUT PROBLEM UP TO VOTERS

Propose New Tax as State Acts to Sue 2 Other Cities to Enforce 72-Hour Week.

INTENDED TO RAISE $50,000

Say Additional Funds Would Allow 4 More Firemen, More Equipment, Policemen.

The problem of placing into effect a 72-hour-work week for Mansfield firemen was headed for decision by the city's electorate today as the state department of industrial relations prepared court action against Dayton and Cincinnati to compel those cities to comply with the new state law

Dispatches from Columbus said Director George A Strain intended to file mandamus actions in Cincinnati and Dayton today which would require the chief's of the fire departments in those cities to put the shorter work week into effect

Both cities are among the eight Ohio municipalities accused of violating the law passed by the legislature last fall. The others are Mansfield, Findlay, Zanesville, Cleveland Heights, East Cleveland and Piqua. All have protested that for reasons of economy they cannot afford to observe the law.

Council's finance committee last night recommended the submission of a one-mill levy intended to raise $50,000 annually for five years, to the voters at the November election

Would Go on Fall Ballot.

The committee recommended that City Solicitor Marion D Ward take the necessary steps to prepare the legislation that would place the issue on the fall ballot. The measure will now come before council for action

"With the additional funds the city could employ the four extra men necessary to place the 72-hour work week in effect, purchase additional equipment needed in the fire department and also have enough funds for additional patrolmen on the police force."

46 Merchants to Join In Display Event This Week

Spring Display Days, an annual event sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, will be observed in Mansfield by 46 merchants for four days, starting tomorrow.

Display windows down town will blossom out with the brightest of spring merchandise, including everything from a jeweled lapel trinket to new household furnishing.

In connection with the Display Days, a bingo and jingle contest will be sponsored by the association with $100 in cash gifts.

Each store will display a bingo letter-number in its display window. To enter, the contestants obtain an entry blank from any participating firm, then visit the display windows, and look for the bingo letter number When one is found that corresponds to the one on bingo card, the name of the store is written in the proper place

Contestants are to fill out as many blocks on the bingo card as possible After the bingo books have been filled out on the card, the last line of the jingle is to be written on the blank.

Prizes for the contest will be awarded on the basis of the bingo cards having the most blocks filled in correctly. In case of ties, the best jingle lines submitted will determine the prize winners

Prizes will be first $50, 2nd, $25, 3rd, $10, 4th, $5 and ten $1

Admiring Throngs Jam New Stream-Lined Junior High for Dedication Ceremonies

Preservation of Democracy Plea of Speakers.

By VIRGIL A. STANFIELD

A magnificent new Mansfield junior high school building that was named for Johnny Appleseed, an eccentric and beloved Richland county character was dedicated last night while thousands of admiring visitors—too many to hear the ceremonies—thronged the huge building.

The last word in modern educational structures, the Johnny Appleseed school on Cline avenue was opened to the public only a few hours before the dedication and it was estimated that more than 6 000 persons inspected the school during the afternoon and evening.

Preservation of American democracy through a modern educational system was the keynote as six dedication speakers, including a pupil of the new school, talked before a capacity crowd in the school's auditorium which seats a few more than 1,000 persons.

The principal speaker was Dr. C. B Allen, professor of education at Western Reserve university Cleveland who praised the present-day schools for teaching boys and girls what they should do to be good citizens-rather than what they shouldn't do.

"We don't teach democracy in schools today—we are democracy and we live it," Dr Allen said.

"Not so many years ago we taught pupils by centering attention on negative things, but now, instead of lecturing on evils and the short-comings of boys and girls we concentrate on achievement and the importance of keeping busy to help pupils stay out of mischief"

Upholds Extra Activities.

Upholding the extra-curricular activities in schools, he said, "pupils of today get more education in high school than they did in college a few years ago.

"School administrators were not responsible for these extra activities that the public often criticizes," he asserted. "Virtually every extra-curricular function was forced on the schools by parents and the pupils who wanted more educational advantages for their children.

"It is important to teach character and personality, for our life

S C. LeMunyon, superintendent of sewer maintenance, was back on the job today after a conference yesterday in Columbus with the State Employes Retirement board.

LeMunyon went to Columbus yesterday with Mayor W. J. Locke to protest his being removed Feb. 24 after the Retirement board had advised Auditor Paul Kelley that LeMunyon was being illegally employed

LeMunyon contended he had already sent in a letter asking that he be dropped from the Employes Retirement pension system, and had asked that his past payments into the fund, be returned to him.

In the conference yesterday it developed that LeMunyon's letter had been received by the board prior to his dismissal

Locke said the board admitted it had no jurisdiction over LeMunyon, and accordingly reinstated him today.

CURBS PICKET, BOYCOTT ACTION

Ohio Supreme Court Rules Such Steps Illegal When There's No Wage Scrap.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Labor unions do not have the right to picket and boycott an employer in order to force unorganized employes to join a union, when there is no wage dispute involved, the Ohio supreme court ruled today in a 5 to 2 decision

The ruling was handed down in deciding the two-year legal battle between Mrs. Pearl E Crosby, operator for a restaurant in Cleveland, against the Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses union and their officials

Mrs. Crosby's restaurant was picketed in October 1937 because her employes were not members of the Hotel and Restaurant employes unions. Mrs. Crosby brought a suit in the common pleas court of Cuyahoga county for an injunction to prevent the picketing and boycott.

Mrs Crosby contended that the defendants were committing acts of violence as part of a conspiracy to injure her business, and thereby compel her to discharge her employes unless they joined the unions

She contended there was no wage dispute between her and her employes, that her employes worked under written three-month renewable contracts and that in some instances she had employed union members

Charley West, the 17th district's gift to the New Deal, is about to be out of a job again, dispatches from Washington said today

Congress has decided that there is no need for more than seven members on the board and West is number No 8.

West, former congressman and liaison man between the White House and congress, explained that his present job was considered temporary from the start

There have been rumors that West might resign to run for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Ohio This he has yet to recognize as fact.

HITS PROBATE COURT ACTION IN LIQUOR CASE

Huston Rules Other Tribunal Has No Right to Order Violator's Release.

REFUSES TO GRANT WRIT

Orders Woman Freed Under Insolvency Act to Serve Out Jail Sentence.

Holding that probate court had no right to order her release, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today refused to grant a habeas corpus action brought by Mrs. Mary Kirkendall today and ordered her back to county jail to serve out the balance of a liquor law violation fine.

Mrs. Kirkendall, who is 40 and resides at 112 North Walnut street was one of three persons sentenced to serve out municipal court fines for liquor law violations who had been released from county jail under the Ohio insolvency act.

The other two were Roy Mason, 32 of 145½ North Main street, and Mrs. Dorothy Williams, 39, of 10½ East Fifth street.

All three were picked up in the last few days on writs of execution issued by municipal court after Judge G E. Kalbfleisch and Solicitor Marion D. Ward had learned they were at liberty

2 Freed Pending Hearing.

Applications for the release of all three were filed by Attorney R J. Brown, commissioner of insolvency in the county after all had testified as to their inability to pay the fines. Mason and Mrs. Williams were released pending hearing on their insolvency applications March 8. Mrs Kirkendall was released outright.

Attorney Jacob Wagenhals, counsel for Mrs. Kirkendall, contended that her re-arrest on the municipal court writ was illegal in that she had the right of freedom under the insolvency law, granted to her by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson

Judge Huston overruled his

LONDON—(AP)—A government spokesman rejected a suggestion in the house of commons today that Britain had blundered in searching American clipper mail at Bermuda and declared "the government action was correct, and moreover was justified by what was discovered in the mail"

R. A Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, said that under international law a belligerent was at liberty to examine any mail whether neutral or belligerent brought voluntarily within its jurisdiction and the government had decided to exercise this right at Bermuda from January 18 in respect to eastbound mail carried by the Pan-American Atlantic service.

DAVEY DECISION STIRS UP DEMS

'Too Bad,' Says Limbach of Announcement That He'll Run for Governor.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Ominous rumblings from Ohio Democratic leaders indicated today that former Gov Martin L Davey's decision to seek a third term may open old party wounds

The Kent tree surgeon, entering a field already occupied by seven candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, declared he would concentrate his entire campaign in an attack on the present Republican administration of Gov John W. Bricker.

Davey's promise that he would "not fight any Democrat" failed to soothe followers of national committeeman Charles Sawyer, who defeated Davey for re-nomination in a bitter primary race in 1938. Sawyer announced recently that in an effort to unite party factions he would not run for governor this year

Arthur L Limbach, Democratic state executive chairman, remarked that "it is too bad" that Davey had not seen fit to follow Sawyer's example "with reference to party harmony and the governorship."

Some political observers suggested that the large number of candidates would give Davey a distinct advantage in the primary, while others argued that his opponents might concentrate their votes on a single candidate to narrow the field theoretically.

Among those already announced for governor on the Democratic side are William J. Kennedy, Cleveland, former secretary of sate; Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus, former attorney general; Harold G Mosier of Cleveland, former congressman-at-large, and James R. Marker of Columbus, former state highway director.

Others in the race are James F. Flynn of Sandusky, former Erie county prosecutor; Frank A Dye,

Court Business Soars, Judge Asks Council for Extra Clerk

Council's finance committee had under consideration today a request from Municipal Judge G E Kalbfleisch for the addition of a deputy clerk to his staff who also would serve as court stenographer

The request, which was submitted to council last night, was accompanied by a petition bearing the signatures of 48 Mansfield attorneys.

The petition cited in the inconvenience caused litigants in the court by having to furnish their own stenographers and asked that a court stenographer be furnished by the city when necessary in the case of a trial

Judge Kalbfleisch in making his request for the additional clerk, cited his annual report for the past five years which he said have shown a "constant increase" in the amount of work that has been handled in the civil branch.

"This work alone has gone completely beyond the ability of one girl," he said, pointing out that the number of civil cases filed with the court during 1939 doubled the number in 1939.

There are now two deputy clerks employed by the court, one handling the civil branch and the other the criminal division

Judge Kalbfleisch in his communication said that the clerks in his office have worked for the past two years without a vacation and many as "three and four nights a week" until 10 and 11 p m.

BRITISH HOLD 9 VESSELS AS 'CONTRABAND'

Blockade Patrols Clamp Down on Shipments to Germany With Renewed Vigor.

BULLETIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— The ministry of economic warfare disclosed today that one of the Italian ships held in the British contraband control had been released because it had sailed from its port of departure prior to March 2.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Two more Italian ships were herded by the British navy into the contraband control station at the Downs today, bringing to nine the number of Italian ships detained in the controversy over German coal exports

The ministry of economic warfare said all nine were flying the Italian ensign and all were "assumed to be carrying coal."

Today's additions to the growing list were the Liana and Rapido, both rated as colliers. The other seven are the Orata, Felce, Caterina, Abertia, Ernesto, Numida and Loasso.

The last-named, at first described as a tanker, has been identified as a coal ship, the ministry said.

The Liana, 6,400 tons, was one of three Italian ships which left Rotterdam March 1, just before the British clamped down on German coal shipments to Italy, but later returned to the Dutch port.

The British blockade patrols worked in apparent disregard of Italy's bitter week-end protest which asserted the blockade was endangering economic and political relations of Britain and Germany's axis partner.

Meanwhile the foreign office was drafting a formal reply to the Rome protest.

British destroyers were waiting for others of a fleet of Italian colliers preparing to sail from Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Two other Italian ships lay off Deal for a day or two, but left today with pilots aboard for a northern British port.

Shipping circles expressed belief they were going to pick up cargoes of English coal for Italy, although the British and Italian government are at odds over the question of supplying Italy's coal needs from British mines.

CHAPTER XII

Milton Wood was much more impressive looking in business clothes than he had been in sweater and slacks. If Star had seen him then as he was now in the doorway of his office, she could not have confided in him. But his smile was just as kind as it had been the night before as he said, "Good morning, Miss Bright. I'll be with you in just a moment."

His secretary followed him inside and closed the door but it was not long until she reappeared.

"Mr. Wood will see you now, Miss Bright."

It was all very impersonal and businesslike, but Star's heart was pounding with excitement. Suppose he had changed his mind about her during the night? But no, already she knew him well enough to believe he would not do that. And she was right. He acted as if the uncertainty were on her side.

He said, "I hope you will forgive me for not reminding you that we had met at Nina's, but I decided it was wiser to wait until you were feeling better."

"When did you recognize me?" she asked.

"As soon as I saw you. You passed me on your way to the end of the pier but you didn't even know it, did you?"

* * *

No, she had been too immersed in her bitter thoughts to see any one.

"You aren't exactly the kind of person a man would forget," he added unexpectedly.

Star glanced at him in surprise. "But you saw me only once and that was weeks ago."

"I remember perfectly, but I shouldn't expect you to recall the faces of as many strangers as you must have met that day."

How kind and unpretentious he was! The most unassuming man she had ever seen. Conscious of her embarrassment, he said encouragingly, "I have arranged for you to go to work in the stenographic department immediately."

His hand was on the buzzer to summon his secretary when Star said pleadingly, "You won't tell Bob where I am?"

"Of course not."

"Is there any chance of Mrs. Lambert's coming down here before she leaves?"

"Very little chance of her seeing you if she does. My secretary tells me they are sailing the end of this week. Nina wants to see me before they go but you need not worry. I shan't give you away."

Star said, "Thank you," and walked toward the door.

* * *

Working in an office was very different from working with Nina, but after the first few days she became accustomed to it and turned out copy so rapidly that no one could doubt her ability. If there had been any suspicion as to the reason she had been hired, it soon disappeared. This girl with the tragically beautiful face and cheap clothes was also a crack stenographer. Her work as well as her manner won respect. She came to work and left quietly, making no effort to be friendly, but her rare smile was worth waiting for, and the fact that she made no claims and asked no favors was a high recommendation with the other employees who soon discovered by the grapevine method operating in every office that she had been hired by Milton Wood.

Star did not even see him for almost a month, but there was never a day she did not hope that she would. Always there was the remote possibility that his secretary would be absent so that some one else might substitute for her. The more Star thought about it the more astonishing that evening at the yacht harbor seemed.

Even if he did recognize her, it had been wonderful of him to follow her and find out what was wrong. He had changed the entire trend of her life, had put her faltering feet on firm ground. Was it any wonder that she put him on a pedestal and worshipped him? She told herself he was probably the one man in the world who could be trusted and she believed that in his heart he was as lonely and almost as shy as she was.

They had been very close in spirit that night on his boat. She had been at ease with him as she had never been with any one else as she helped scramble eggs and make coffee. They had laughed together and later when she confided in him there had been tears in his gray eyes. Night after night after she had gone to bed, Star relived the scene until it took on an added significance. Some day she was going to do something for him. In some way she would be able to repay him.

At the end of two weeks Star moved from the rooming house to a better one where she had an inexpensive but cheerful room. There were other young people there who ate in the dining room at the same table with her, but Star was so absorbed in her dreams that she was scarcely conscious of them.

She lived now for her job, which was more fascinating than any amusement. She liked the atmosphere of the busy place and began to take a personal interest in the magazine, which she read from cover to cover. It seemed strange to see the same stories she had typed for Nina. But Nina and Bob were now safely in Europe. Star wasted little time thinking about either of them. She could see now that Nina had been right to refuse her consent to their marriage although her method of stopping it was cruel. Star was too old for Bob. Her life had not fitted her to be the wife of a boy like Bob. She needed an older man, just as Nina had said. Not Milton Wood, of course. But some one like him. Some one kind and cynical and a little shy and about his age which Star decided must be in the early thirties.

Secure in the fact that she was self-supporting, Star did not realize that she was living in a dream world. The day that she was able to start a bank account was the proudest of her life. She would take no chance on ever again being left with only a dime. A definite percentage of her salary was banked every week. The amount remaining was enough for her room and board and even permitted her to put aside a bit for the clothes she must buy in the fall.

She deliberately closed her mind to the thought of Mamie. Her mother had refused to help her when she needed it, and Star told herself she was under no further obligation.

At night she went to an occasional concert or movie alone. She continued the reading course Nina had recommended and she was happy until the day in early September when she was forced to realize how much of that happiness was based on a false presumption.

* * *

The day for which she had longed finally arrived. Mr. Wood's secretary was ill and a stenographer was requested from Star's department. Perhaps because she had prayed for it so long, perhaps because of the excellence of her work, she was the one to be chosen. She walked into the business manager's office feeling as if she must be floating on a cloud. What a thrill it would be to be alone with him, take his dictation! She had dreamed of it many times but he was even kinder than she had imagined. His face lighted up at sight of her as he said, "Well, it's been a long time since I've seen you. How are you getting along?"

"Just fine, Mr. Wood."

"Like your job?"

"I love it," she declared.

It was then, while her face was radiated with admiration and gratitude, that her eyes fell upon the picture on his desk. It hadn't been there before. She was sure of that.

It was a photograph of one of the most beautiful women Star had ever seen. She had a classic regularity of feature which was accentuated by shining blond hair piled high on her beautiful head. The fur she wore was arranged with studied grace about a flawless throat. Every detail of her costume was perfect. Star sighed, knowing before her employer spoke what he would say.

"That is the latest photograph of my wife," he explained.

"She is very beautiful," the girl answered automatically.

She should have known that he would be married. Men like that always had wives. It had been silly of her to assume merely because he had been alone at Nina's that day that he was unattached. Besides what difference could it possibly make to Star Bright whether he was married or not? She hadn't been good enough to marry Bob and this man was as far above Bob as . . .

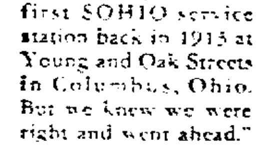
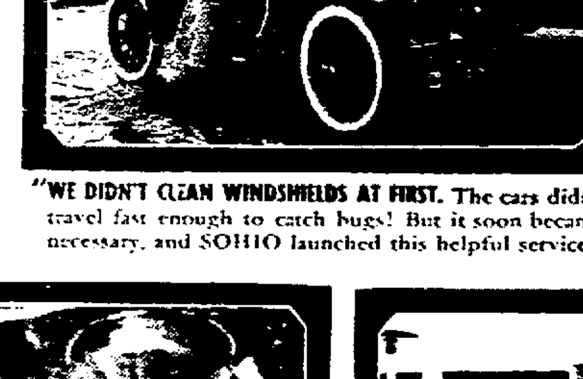
"THIS IS OHIO'S FIRST SERVICE STATION
...the place where friendly SOHIO service had its start"

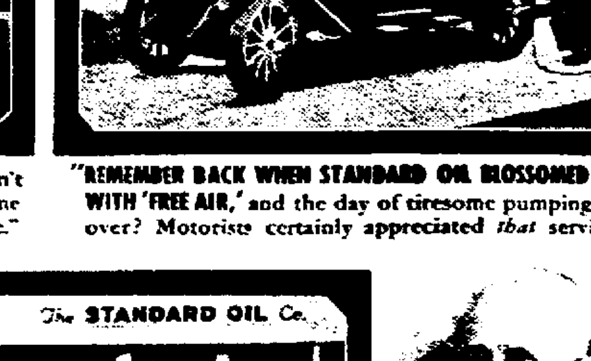
H. V. WICLIFF, of Columbus, the first SOHIO service station operator, looks back through years of service to Ohio motorists.



"PEOPLE SCOFFED a bit when we opened that first SOHIO service station back in 1913 at Young and Oak Streets in Columbus, Ohio. But we knew we were right and went ahead."

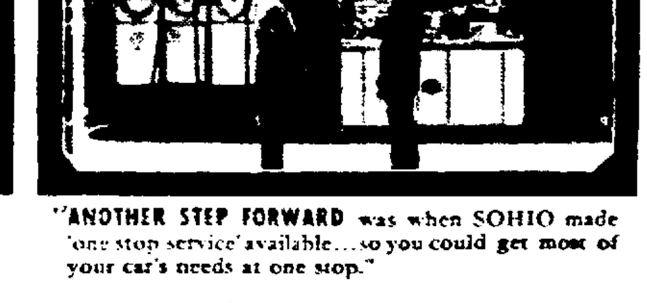


"WE DIDN'T CLEAN WINDSHIELDS AT FIRST. The cars didn't travel fast enough to catch bugs! But it soon became necessary, and SOHIO launched this helpful service."

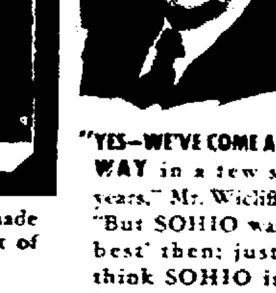


"REMEMBER BACK WHEN STANDARD OIL BLOSSOMED OUT WITH 'FREE AIR,' and the day of tiresome pumping was over? Motorists certainly appreciated that service!"

"THEN WE ANNOUNCED, 'CRANKCASE DRAINED FREE!' Before that time, a motorist drained his crankcase himself. It was a dirty, messy job, so SOHIO took it over."



"ANOTHER STEP FORWARD was when SOHIO made 'one stop service' available...so you could get most of your car's needs at one stop."



"YES—WE'VE COME A LONG WAY in a few short years," Mr. Wicliff says. "But SOHIO was 'the best' then; just as I think SOHIO is 'the best' today."

Retired Teacher Seeks G. O. P. Commissioner Nomination.

H. P. Taylor, R. D. 2, Bellville, a retired teacher, today became the second candidate to file petitions for the nomination for a county office at the May 14 primary.

Taylor, a Republican, filed with the board of elections for county commissioner. He is the second Republican in the contest for commissioner. Harry Orewiler, Sharon township trustee, announced 10 days ago for the office. Two of the three commissioners will be elected this year.

First to file this year for a county post was Charles Payne, deputy county treasurer, who submitted his petitions to the election board yesterday afternoon. He is seeking the nomination for treasurer on the Democratic ticket.

Candidates will have until 6:30 p. m. March 15 to file for the May primary.

Contagion Drops Off 30 Per Cent During February

Contagious diseases in Mansfield showed a 30 per cent decrease last month, Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner had reported today.

A total of 95 cases of communicable diseases were reported to the health department during February as compared with 129 in January. This was 248 cases less than was reported during the corresponding period in 1939.

Dr. Rehder's report showed that the greatest decrease was in chicken pox, 47 cases reported during the month as against 74 in January.

Scarlet fever jumped from 16 cases in January to 20 last month. Also reported were 13 cases of venereal diseases, four each of tuberculosis and measles and two of whooping cough.

LEFT HIS BADGE

PHILADELPHIA, Miss.—(INS)—Constable George N. Hillman today had found that fate plays funny tricks—even on constables as they are being sworn into office. Constable Hillman is searching for his own automobile. Just as he took the oath of the constabulary in Philadelphia at the Neshoba County Court House, a thief made away with his car he had parked on a local street.

RUPTURE

H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Southern Hotel, Mansfield, Saturday only, March 9, from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge. Add. 6441 N. RICHMOND ST., Chicago. Large Incisional Hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially solicited.

RING RETURNS

Dredgers Find Class Memento In Bottom of River.

BLISSFIELD, Mich.—(U.P.)—Fifteen years ago Burdette F. Seizert lost the class ring he received upon graduation from Blissfield high school. It fell off his finger while he was a student at Michigan State college in Lansing.

Seizert moved to Salem, Mo., and his ring now is en route to him. It was discovered by workmen dredging the Red Cedar river in Lansing and was identifed by the name of the school, the year and his initials.

CRIPPLED, STILL TRIES.

CHICO, Cal. —(U.P.)— Wade Tarter, veteran pitcher for the Colts in the Sacramento League, and the Trolley League before that, whose left arm was amputated below the elbow as the result of a hunting accident last summer, plans a baseball comeback. He is in training and is confident that he can succeed as a one-armed pitcher.

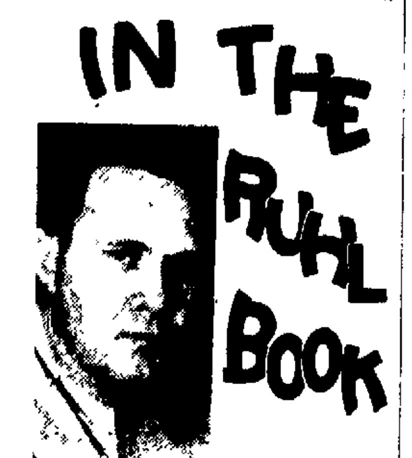
Messmore Spills 745 Pins to Set New Record



BY OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor

JUDGING from what transpired on the various district' tournament courts over the week-end, Mansfield high cagers cannot afford to take anything for granted.

Although pressed by a none-too-strong Sandusky club in their first game, the Tygers still look like the team to beat, according to those who have seen all of the tournament quintets in action.

But we are told Mansfield cannot afford to a let-down as Mt. Vernon, Hamilton, Middletown and other strong clubs did as they were eliminated by virtual unknowns.

Mansfield is confronted by a tough ball team Friday night when it returns to Sandusky to tangle with Fremont Ross, and it shouldn't be necessary to tell the Tygers that they had better be prepared.

Even if the Tygers beat Fremont, which is generally referred to as the tournament favorite ,the championship will not be cinched.

The semi-finalists in the other brackets will be either Bellvue or Ashland, and either one of these two clubs are capable of giving the Tyger. a fairly even tussle.

Mansfield walloped the daylights out of Bellvue during the regular season, but some feel the Tygers were aided by over-confidence in the Crimson camp. Bellvue met a number of outstanding foes during the season, and none found it as easy as did the Tygers In fact, Bellvue defeated Hamilton, which handed the Tygers one of their worst setbacks of the season.

Ashland cannot be under-rated. The A's defeated the Tygers in their first meeting, but suffered a humiliating setback in their second game. This appears to be sufficient indication that Ashland would be no set-up.

* * *

Any one of the four teams remaining in the tournament has a chance to dethrone Mansfield as district champion, and we suspect nobody realizes this fact better than Coach Vern Hoffman.

Braves Obtain Ex-Fremont Hurler.

THE Mansfield Braves had a new pitcher today, thanks to Joe Blahnik, manager of the Montgomery-Ward store.

Ben Colopy, a Danville boy, is the new slinger, and he consented to sign a Brave contract only under the condition that he be given a job until the spring drills open.

Blahnik, who is head coach of the Downtown Coaches association, heard about the matter, and immediately gave the young benedict the job when he learned that he would be of much help to the club.

Today the young man went to work, and, judging from what Colopy has to say, he expects to make Mansfield his home.

Colopy, a right hander, hurled for Fremont Green Sox last year and turned in eight wins against as many defeats until a sore arm forced him to quit.

He asked for his release recently and obtained it, and came to Mansfield this week in an attempt to gain employment and wished to remain near to his parents' home.

Colopy had two other baseball offers, but they were rejected when Blahnik came through with the job.

* * *

The Danville boy was with Hutchinson, Kans., in the Western Association and finished the season with McKeesport, in the Penn State circuit in 1938. He was with Akron and Butler, Pa., in his pro dubut in 1937.

Screwball Pitch May Make Smith Winner.

A LEFT-HANDER named Al Smith is popping up in the majors again.

The Cleveland Indians want to see what the 31-year-old pitcher, who won 16 and lost only two for Buffalo last season, can do for them.

For several seasons Smith was only a so-so flinger in the National League, and finally was waived out. Now he has something extra —Coach George Uhle taught him to throw a screwball at Buffalo.

"It made the difference between an ordinary left-hander of a kind that comes at a nickel a carload and a fellow who can win in any company," exults Steve O'Neill, manager of the International League club.

O'Neill may be overly enthusiastic, but Carl Hubbell was just an ordinary minor league pitcher until he developed the screwball. O'Neill declares Smith's new offering is one of the best in baseball.

Cleveland can use another southpaw. Long weak in that department, improvement was noticed last year when the Indians wound up third with a snappy stretch drive. Portsider Al Milnar won 14 games for the Tribe, but is a sophomore and must prove he can do it again. Harry Eisenstat, acquired from Detroit, was especially valuable in relief roles.

Smith, whose home is in Webster Groves, Mo., had an earned run average of 3 26 last campaign. With the exception of Bob Feller's 2.85, this is the best of an assortment of 19 twirling veterans and young hopefuls reporting to spring training camp at Fort Myers, Fla.

Bellville Works For Tiffinites

Bluejays Favored to Advance To Finals In Carey District Play.

FAVORED TO advance at the expense of Tiffin Calvert in a semi-final contest at 8:30 p. m. Friday in the sectional Class B tournament at Carey, the Bellville high Bluejays are concentrating on strenghtening their defensive play today.

* * *

The Bluejays were able to bust up Ada's fast-breaking attack uuder the basket, but nearly went down to defeat in the quarter-final tussle last week because they couldn't put the damper on the long range shots.

* * *

While Bellville is not expected to encounter trouble from Calvert, Coach W. H Miley is having a battle keeping his proteges from becoming over-confident.

Tiffin has defeated Thompson and North Robinson, but failed to show any signs of a fast-breaking attack and may cause the Bluejays some concern with their slow offense.

Ada, the pre-tourney favorite, apparently, didn't take the Bluejays seriously and was unable to halt the hard-driving Bellville cagers.

* * *

Hostilities in the sectional meet gets going Thursday with a two-game quarter-final program. Carey and Bettsville meet at 8 p. m. and Bluffton faces Fostoria St. Wendelin at 9 p. m. St. Wendelin defeated Lexington in an opening round tilt.

* * *

The winners of these games return to battle in the semi-finals at 8:30 p. m. Friday. The victor of that tussle meets the winner of the Bellville-Calvert game in the championship finals at 9 p. m. Saturday. A consolation game opens the program at 8 p m. Saturday.

FINALE FOR INDIANS

CLEVELAND—The most colorful hockey team in the league, the Springfield Indians, make their final bow of the season Saturday night when they battle the Cleveland Barons at the Arena It is the second-last home game of the regular schedule for the Cleveland icers.

Tribe Discovers 'Another Feller'

Paul Calvert, Montreal Sandlot Star, Shows Indians Blinding Speed.

Calvert, a bespectacled 180-pound right hander has had no professional experience. He was signed on the recommendation of an unofficial scout while pitching semi-pro ball in Montreal.

The rookie became the talk of the camp by his display of blinding speed in batting practice hurling. Coach Johnny Bassler is loud in his praise of the youth and Manager Oscar Vitt has indicated he will give him a thorough test in a regular-yannigan game next Sunday.

* * *

If Calvert follows in the footsteps of Bob Feller, the club's youthful ace, he will have to overcome a jinx that has nipped Bill Zuber, Johnny Humphries and Mike Naymick. All were labeled "another Fellers" on their first showings and all failed to come through in big league style.

* * *

Oscar Grimes, the Minerva, O, infielder, is due in camp Friday in the company of President Alva Bradley. Grimes underwent an operation in Cleveland last month for the removal of a piece of cartilage in his knee.

* * *

All the Indians hurlers except Feller, Mel Harder and Al Smith have taken turns in batting-practice pitching. Harder probably won't go to the hill until he is better conditioned.

* * *

It's been 15 years since a Cleveland southpaw turned in 15 or more victories in a season, but the Tribe has great hopes this year in Al Milnar, Harry Eisenstat and Al Smith. Milnar won 14 last year and Eisenstat, used principally in relief roles, six. Smith came from Buffalo of the International league with the most flowery recommendations from Manager Steve O'Neill.

* * *

Joe Shaute posted 20 decisions for the Tribe in 1924, but Cleveland portsider winners have been few since that time.

* * *

Akron's Luke Sewell, officially listed as a coach, is taking daily batting practice and may become the club's emergency catcher. Rollie Hemsley is rounding into shape and looks for another good year, but Frankie Pytlak, the No. 1 replacement, is still holding out, and Hank Helf and Lou Kahn, the other two receivers on the roster, don't seem to be ready for fast company.

Medwick Disgusted By Rickey's Absence.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Disgusted by the failure of General Manager Branch Rickey to appear for a scheduled contract confab, Slugger Joe Medwick planned to leave the St. Louis Cardinals' training camp today and fly back to St. Louis. Rickey was scheduled to meet Medwick yesterday, but won't arrive until Friday.

"I've done my part," declared Joe, who wants more than the $18,000 offered him. "I was here on the appointed date, and he wasn't. The next move will be up to the management."

* * *

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Joe DiMaggio, who ended his annual holdout yesterday and agreed to accept about $30,000 for his season's labors, expects to get into the New York Yankees' first exhibition game Friday. Joe said he would leave San Francisco on an early train today and would be ready to play when he reached camp.

* * *

TAMPA, Fla.—Inasmuch as the pitchers still are taking it easy this may not mean much, but a young fellow who has a chance to turn up in the Cincinnati Reds' lineup is Myron (Mike) McCormick, late of Indianapolis. The 200-pound rookie outfielder is hitting the ball to all fields, including the one beyond the fence. He also is capable on defense.

* * *

LAKELAND, Fla.—At least Detroit's Tigers can dig up more original names than the usual "regulars" and "yannigans" for their teams in intra-camp games. Today, it's the "white rats," with Bill Fleming and Hal Manders pitching, against the "black cats," with Freddie Hutchinson and Tom Seats on the hill.

* * *

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. —(AP)—Ace Parker, the Brooklyn pro football star who is here for a tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates, is the center of considerable training camp interest. Parker, who once belonged to the Athletics, is here on trial from the Portsmouth (Va.) club. He says he is out to make good as an infielder, but he has plenty of opposition.

Oils' Record Marred By Only One Defeat

Yuncker Sports' Foe In Playoff Game Thursday Boasts Best City League Mark.

LITTLE more than an ordinary amount of credit has been given the Blue Goose Sohioans this basketball season.

This is probably due to the irregularity of the City league schedule, which has been punctuated by many off-nights caused by the promotion of numerous special games featuring crack pro clubs.

The Sohioans have compiled an enviable record in their first season in the city circuit.

* * *

Blue Goose has lost only one game in the best competition the city has to offer, and the lone setback was administered by the Shelley Chocolates in the first game of the season.

* * *

Young Pete Hergatt's quintet did not lose a game in the second round, and all it has to do is to win the City league championship is win one more game.

This victory may be difficult to achieve, but they are betting favorites to annex the league gonfalo as they have two games in which to turn the trick.

The Sohicans meet the Yuncker Sports in the finals of the playoff for the first round title at 8 p. m. Thursday. If they drop this tilt, they will have a chance to win the crown the next week against the same team.

* * *

The winner of Thursday's game will become the first round champion. If the Sohioans win, the second game will be unnecessary as the victory will give Blue Goose both round championships and the league title.

* * *

This game should draw one of the finest crowds of the season as a co-feature of the program will be the presentation of "ghost basketball" The "ghost" game to be played in complete darkness will involve two Mansfield teams yet to be selected.

An admission of only 25 cents will be charged for this pair of attractions, City league officials announced today.

Inmates Defeat Johnson Corners

With Calhoun tipping in 14 points, the Ohio State Reformatory quintet handed the Johnson Corner Merchants a 55 to 22 drubbing on the Reformatory court last night.

The inmates led, 16 to 8, in the first period, 29 to 12, at the intermission and 47 to 12, at the three-quarter mark. The winners held the Merchants scoreless in the third quarter.

Mansfield Boy Goes to Boston

Glover to Fight In National Meet In April.

Despite his first-round defeat in the Chicago Golden Gloves, Beauford Glover, classy Mansfield lightweight, will participate in the National A. A U. senior championship tournament in Boston April 8, 9 and 10.

It was previously reported by officials that Glover, who won the 135-pound division in the Cleveland Golden Gloves tourney, would have to emerge a winner in the Chicago to get the trip to Boston.

* * *

The Chicago classic, however, was sponsored by the Chicago Tribune under A. A. U. rules with the proceeds going to charity. It was a tournament of champions from 43 states.

* * *

Glover, who carries the Friendly House colors, will be one of the eight Cleveland titleholders to make the trip.

The Mansfielder is expected to have one tune-up fight before leaving for Boston. He is scheduled to headline a Friendly House show set for the settlement probably next week. The date is not definite Glover will meet a top-flight Cleveland lightweight in a five-round bout. Paul Carbetta, Jake Zacharias and Al Sauer are also on the card.

'Skeets' Wolf Comes Through With 685 Total as Tire League Bowlers Go on Rampage.

A NEW SEASON individual three-game record was established at the Meder alleys last night as the Mansfield Tire league keglers went on a scoring rampage.

In his first two games, Messmore chalked up seven straight strikes He collected eight in his final games opening with five in a row and closing with three.

Messmore led his team to a 2705 total and a clean sweep over Tire Room No. 1, which was paced by Leroy (Skeets) Wolf's big 685 Wolf came through with counts of 236, 235 and 214.

Allen Exception as Cage Coaches Chorus, 'Let Rules Alone'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Dr. F. C. (Phog) Allen of Kansas university could hardly be called a "voice in the wilderness," yet the chairman of the National Basketball Research committee seems to be a lone and forlorn figure as he demands a drastic revision in basketball rules.

* * * * *

The coaches' consensus, garnered in a nation-wide poll, seemed to be "let the rules alone"—until the Kansas precinct reported!

* * * * *

All Allen wants to do is increase the height of the basket two feet, create a 16-foot "don't-shoot-in-here safety isle" around the basket, restore the center jump, decrease the size of the ball, increase the size of the court and add two players to each team!

If the studious doctor who has made the name Kansas synonymous with good basketball suggests all those changes to the national rules committee, he is liable to get a cold shoulder from the remainder of the coaching fraternity.

Or in the words of Coach Mike Brumbelow of Texas Christian, whose teams have finished last in the Southwest conference the last five years, "leave the rules alone—I can't think of any changes that would help us!"

Allen does not stand absolutely alone in his amazing plan to partition off part of the court. Ken Loeffler of Yale would mark off a semi-circle with a 14-foot diameter under the baskets. No player would be permitted to enter this "no man's land" until the ball had touched the hoop or the bankboards, and then only for about three seconds.

* * * * *

"A questionnaire sent to coaches in all this area, including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, shows that the coaches are well satisfied with the rules as they stand. We feel we have a game full of spectator interest, and we want to keep it that way."

* * * * *

There were some minor suggestions that may be incorporated into new rules. Hank Crisp of Alabama and Dutch Lonberg of Northwestern think the game should be slowed up. Stanfield Hitt of Mississippi State believes the out-of-bounds line should be four feet back of the basket, instead of two Nibs Price of California and Everett Dean of Stanford find fault with the rule which permits a fouled player to refuse the free throw and take the ball out of bounds. George Edwards of Missouri would increase the size of the hoops.

Akron District May Again Produce State Cage Champ

By JIM EMERSON

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Conforming to recent history, high school court teams from the Akron area again look like the clubs to beat for northeastern Ohio and state scholastic cage honors.

Combines from the Akron sector already have captured five of seven first round games played in the district meet at Kent. For the past two seasons, they have grabbed four of the five state tourney berths from the district. Last year, Akron North roared to the Class A state championship. Akron Garfield reached the semi-finals.

Canton McKinley, tagged by several critics as the best bet in the state to succeed to North's vacated throne, drubbed East Palestine, 58 to 31, last night in the most impressive of three triumphs for Akron aera outfits.

* * *

Akron Buchtel, a defending state meet entrant, smothered what was supposed to be a strong Ashtabula five, 30 to 14, and Akron St. Vincent's walked past Euclid Shore, 43 to 25. Struthers from the Youngstown sectional halted the Akron dominance by defeating Akron Hower, 21 to 18.

* * *

McKinley's victory was its 18th of the season without defeat. Akron South clashes with Barberton, Alliance with Buchtel and McKinley with Struthers for three of the district seats to the state meet.

Akron St. Vincent's plays the winner of a Massillon-Campbell Memorial contest for the fourth berth while the victor in a bracket made up of Akron West vs Cleveland and Shaw vs Canton Lehman and Girard gets the fifth.

Seventeen games are on the district elimination schedules around the state tonight. All but four involve Class B fives. The Class A meet at Toledo goes into the quarter-final round with Toledo DeVilbiss, defending champion, encountering Clay, upset victory over Toledo Libbey in the feature clash.

Six Class B games will be played at Kent, three at Leipsic in the northwestern district and four at Dayton in the southwestern.

* * *

North Canton, incumbent Class B state titlist, meets Rome of Conneaut; Columbiana faces Rittman and South Amherst risks its unbeaten record against Hartville in the feature.

* * *

Ottawa Hills, undefeated in its initial season of basketball, brushes against Holgate in the feature at Leipsic.

Wins Big Ten Scoring Title

Bill Hapac, Illinois, Rolls Up 184 Points.

* * *

Hapac failed by 21 points to break Jewell Young's season's scoring record of 184 points, but he did pour 34 points through the hoop against Minnesota in mid-season to set a new single game record. Based on his performance in 11 games, Hapac, had he not been sick in the season's opener, would have finished the season with 179 points. He averaged one point under 15 tallies a game, getting 60 field goals and 44 free throws. This gave him the top scoring spot by 23 points.

Find Vander Meer's Fault In Pictures.

Tall, lean young Johnny Vander Meer, the hero of 1938 the bust of 1939, is making definite progress on the comeback trail. It's too early yet to say yea or nay but Manager Bill McKechnie of the National League Champion Cincinnati Reds thinks he's found what went wrong with Vandy's control.

* * *

He and Coach Jimmy Wilson, who made slow motion pictures of Vandy's pitching last year, discovered after long study that the Dutchman was throwing with his strong left arm alone. His entire body wasn't in it. Now he's turning his left foot a little as he winds up and throwing from the hips.

* * *

So Johnny, who turned in the two consecutive no-hitters two years ago but won only five of 14 games last season may be on the way. Poor control was his main handicap. He's still got his stuff and his speed and if he can put the ball where he wants to regularly, 1940 may be another Vander Meer year.

Best Dressed

Joe DiMaggio, vigorous smiter of baseballs and an ardent collector of outfield fly balls, has been declared one of the 10 best dressed men in the United States. Above, we see Joe in two of the numbers which have brought him the sartorial salute of the nation's tailors. Top, the Yankee star is seen in a business suit, appropriate garb for a highly-successful San Francisco, Cal., restaurateur (which is what Joe is in his spare time.) Lower photo shows Joe in a sports job which proves that a fellow can look neat and be comfortable at the same time.

Mike McCormick Stars In Reds' First Game.

TAMPA, Fla—(U.P.)—The initial intra-squad game of the spring season doesn't make a major league outfielder but Manager Bill McKechnie had no reason to feel any less optimistic about the prospects of Mike McCormick.

The 200-pound Irishman from Indianapolis gave him four good reasons to the contrary—two triples and two singles in two times at bat—in a contest where the colts trounced the vets, 12 to 6.

Of course, the pitching of Rookies Lloyd Dietz, Pete Sivess and Joe Beggs wasn't of mid-season National league standard but on the other hand, the rest of the Colts faced the same hurling with less success than Mike.

* * *

There is no question about McCormick's defensive ability to plug the Reds left field weakness. He covers 100 yards in approximately 10 seconds despite his weight. But that .318 batting average in the American association is a question mark although McKechnie can recall that another McCormick, Frank, bettered his minor league average in his first season under the Deacon's tutelage.

* * *

Outside of McCormick's stickwork there was not much of interest in the opening practice game.

The No. 3 Redleg nine defeated the No. 4 team 4 to 3, in the afternoon.

The odds still point to the trading or sale of Lew Riggs, veteran infielder, before the season starts. He performed in right field during the scrub games.

Wagner and Meeker tallied 13 points apiece as the Presbyterians walloped South Main Evangelicals, 36 to 25, while the Foresters stopped the First Lutherans, 32 to 24, and Mayflower came through with a 20 to 15 win over the Park Avenue Baptist club. First Congregationals won on a forfeit over First Methodist.

Finn Star Not Far Off Form

Taisto Maki Reels Off Fast Mile In U. S. Debut.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Taisto Maki, who exchanged a soldier's rifle for an athelete's spike to help build up the depleted finances of his native Finland, apparently is not far off the form that enabled him to crack running records right and left less than a year ago.

The mud of Finnish trenches, heavy boots and war ordeals are still fresh memories, yet without much training the 141-pound speedster stepped out here last night to easily win a three-mile race. He was timed in 14 minutes, 15.3 seconds, without being pressed to make it.

* * *

The American indoor record is 13:46.2 set in New York February 24, 1925, by Willie Ritola, one of Maki's countrymen. Maki is unofficially credited with running the fastest outdoor three miles ever recorded when he went the distance in 13:42.4 in Finland last June.

* * *

Accompanied by Paavo Nurmi, his countryman and world's greatest distance runner of the early '20's, Maki made his first appearance in this country in what will be a series of performances dedicated to the benefit of the Finnish relief fund. Nurmi, now 43 years old and partly bald, ran an exhibition half mile.

Allen's Holdout Has Vitt Worried.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(U.P.)—The continued holdout performance of Johnny Allen set Manager Oscar Vitt worrying today about another starting pitcher for his Cleveland Indians.

He now has Bob Feller, Mel Harder, Al Milnar and Willis Hudlin in the starting category but Harder and Hudlin are veterans who are not getting any younger.

The rest of the crop consists of rookies and second stringers of doubtful value—Joe Dobson, Johnny Broaca, Johnny Humphries, Bill Zuber, Harry Eisenstat and Al Smith. Eisenstat, Dobson and Broaca flashed brilliantly in spots last season but have yet to prove their consistency.

Vitt is anxious to make a trade for another hurler of proved major league value but the prospects are none too bright.

Cyril C. Slapnicka, Indian general manager, said he had received another letter from Allen, refusing to sign "under the terms we have offered."

* * *

Slapnicka was to reply today. He said that the club would not "compromise" because Allen was "much too unreasonable."

HITS REVENUE

$11,000 for Special Elections Helps Eat Up County Funds.

Despite a tax advance for $25,000 last month, the county's general fund balance dropped $1,954 in February, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe's monthly report showed today.

The county operating balance March 1 was $4,530 as compared with $6,484 on Feb. 1. Disbursements in February were $42,602 and receipts amounted to $40,648.

Two special congressional elections in February, which cost approximately $11,000, cut into the county's revenue. The report listed $47,854 in the bond retirement and a balance of $4,280 in the relief fund.

Undivided tax funds at the end of the month totaled $6,554, one of the lowest figures in recent months. Most of the amount represented classified tax funds.

IN AKRON, TOO

Cops Obey Orders, Put Tag On Chief's Automobile.

AKRON, O.—(U.P.)—Capt. Tom Lynett, traffic bureau chief, has been urging his men to enforce traffic regulations without fear or favor.

"Put a ticket on the windshield if they're parked wrong," he said, "no matter whose automobile it is."

His men followed his orders, pasted a bright yellow ticket on the windshield of his car after his tail light had burned out. He paid the $1 fine without protest.

Glass wool is made from silica sand, soda ash and limestone. It may or may not contain scrap glass or other materials.

SAYS INDIANS MADE SLY DEAL

Manhattan Was Abode Of Evil To Them and $16 Was Good Price.

EUROPA, Miss.—(U.P.)—Jim Walton, director of the General Samuel Dale Historical Society, says the Indians really pulled a smart trick when they sold Manhattan island to the Dutch for $16.

Walton says that the Indian name was Ma-Na-Hatta and it was the place where the spirits of the wicked were punished through infinity. He says it is certain that no Indians lived on the island at the time of the transaction, as the souls of all criminals executed by the Indians were consigned to Ma-Na-Hatta.

Walton credited this information to the fragmentary papers of Gen. Samuel Dale, who died in 1841.

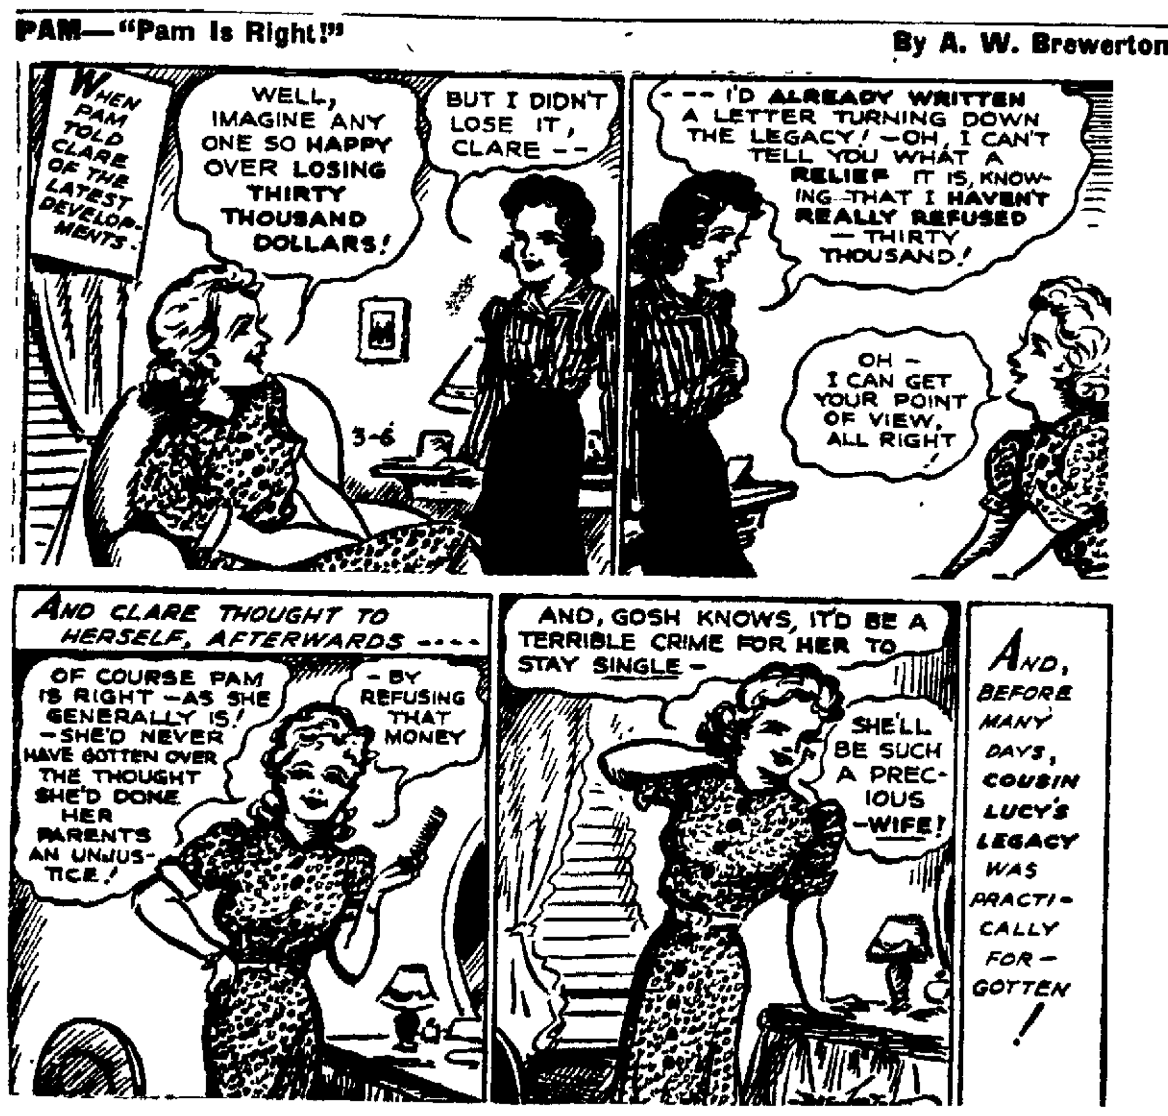
PAM—"Pam Is Right!"

By A. W. Brewerton



WHEN PAM TOLD CLARE OF THE LATEST DEVELOPMENTS-
WELL, IMAGINE ANY ONE SO HAPPY OVER LOSING THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS!
BUT I DIDN'T LOSE IT, CLARE --
--- I'D ALREADY WRITTEN A LETTER TURNING DOWN THE LEGACY! —OH, I CAN'T TELL YOU WHAT A RELIEF IT IS, KNOWING THAT I HAVEN'T REALLY REFUSED — THIRTY THOUSAND!
OH — I CAN GET YOUR POINT OF VIEW, ALL RIGHT!
3-6
AND CLARE THOUGHT TO HERSELF, AFTERWARDS ----
OF COURSE PAM IS RIGHT —AS SHE GENERALLY IS! —SHE'D NEVER HAVE GOTTEN OVER THE THOUGHT SHE'D DONE HER PARENTS AN UNJUSTICE!
- BY REFUSING THAT MONEY
AND, GOSH KNOWS, IT'D BE A TERRIBLE CRIME FOR HER TO STAY SINGLE - SHE'LL BE SUCH A PRECIOUS —WIFE!
AND, BEFORE MANY DAYS, COUSIN LUCY'S LEGACY WAS PRACTICALLY FORGOTTEN!

STOCK LEADERS CONTINUE RISE IN BRISK MART

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels and motors surged ahead today, carrying aircrafts and metals higher in a fairly active stock market.

Only rails lagged behind. Leaders generally carried through on an upswing begun yesterday.

Bonds and commodities were narrowly mixed. Foreign markets were steady but slow.

A rising tide of aircraft export was reported by the commerce department which announced $25,480,817 worth of aeronautic shipments abroad in January, only 10 per cent less than the record total of December and 421 per cent higher than in January, 1939.

The deep south freeze of a month ago was reflected in estimates that freight carloadings increased last week over the preceding week and in comparison with the like 1939 period.

The total was believed to be about 640,000 cars compared with 595,032 in the preceding week and 596,691 in the 1939 week.

Much of the business was reported to represent heavy movements of fruits and vegetables from California in substitution for normal Florida and Texas crops which were frozen out.

The better-than-seasonal shipping gain also was regarded as showing industrial pickup, particularly as representing increased movement of automobiles to dealers from factories.

ONE-MILL CITY LEVY PROPOSED

Council Group Urges Funds to Pay for Extra Firemen Under New State Law.

Fred Miller, finance committee chairman, said.

Firemen now work 84 hours a week.

Miller suggested the levy after pointing out that the city was unable to hire the needed firemen because of the limited money in the general operating fund.

The one-mill assessment which would be levied on real estate outside the 10-mill limitation, would increase taxes $1 on every $1,000 of property valuation for the five years it would be in effect.

Miller's comment on the additional men in the police department was seen as an answer to a shorter work week, a request that was vetoed by Mayor William J. Locke following council's' passage of a bill that would have given them every sixth day off instead of every eighth day as is now in effect.

The mayor's veto was read at last night's meeting and filed without comment.

KILLER INSANE

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt said today a sanity commisison had found Agnes West, 34-year-old one-time brilliant student at West Virginia university to be insane and that he would ask criminal court to nolle prosse murder charges against her for strangling her mother in a downtown hotel room last Jan. 3.

The official also announced he would present a petition to the court for removal of Miss West to the state hospital at Huntington, W. Va.

Damaged by Fire — The roof and walls of the office of the Simon Small and Sons coal yard on Surrey road, were damaged by fire this morning, caused by an overheated stove. Firemen from Central station answered the alarm.

Chicken Supper—The Parent-Teacher association of Lincoln Heights school will hold its annual penny supper at the school Friday evening. Dinner will be served between 5 and 8 p. m. The three Majors from Smart's studio will furnish entertainment.

Named to Committee—Harry France of Lexington, student at Otterbein college, has been appointed to the decorating committee for the "Shamrock Shindig," freshman class party to be held Saturday night. France is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. France, and was graduated from Lexington high school in 1937.

The first head of the United States Naval academy at Annapolis was Franklin Buchanan in 1845.

THEATERS

TAKING a look around at the English women who add beauty and talent to American films, you begin to wonder what's happened to our early concept of the English woman as wearing the inevitable tweed and low-heeled shoes. Even yet the American cartoonists draw the English scenes with this type of English female. Yet the English women in pictures are among the world's real beauties. Madeliene Carroll is considered one of the most beautiful women in the world, while Vivien Leigh is scarcely the tweed-and-low-heels type. Ida Lupino is a lovely natural blond and Merle Oberon is a striking brunet. Then there are the two new Irish stars, who if not English, are at least British—Geraldine Fitzgerald and Maureen O'Hara. In fact, some of the loveliest of American film players are English women.

* * *

Is Well Titled.

And speaking of Geraldine Fitzgerald brings to mind the fact that her third American picture is appropriately titled, "A Child Is Born." The Irish actress expects her own baby this spring. The dramatic talent she displayed in "Dark Victory" and "Wuthering Heights" is brought to her latest film, which the Madison shows today and Thursday. "Emergency Squad," the second film, is a story of the trouble-shooters of a big city, and a girl who wants a job as a reporter.

* * *

Scenes In The Vatican.

There are really two major attractions at the Ohio, running through Thursday. Besides "Strange Cargo" with Joan Crawford, Clark Gable and Ian Hunter, the recent release of Time Marches On takes spectators to the Vatican of Pope Pius XII and through the most sacred precincts of the Roman Catholic church. Most impressive are the scenes in the crypts where the popes are buried, and in the great cathedrals. It also shows Pope Pius addressing an audience.

* * *

Men Stars Featured.

Two entertaining films are offered at the Ritz today and tomorrow. One is the Charles Laughton starring picture, "Jamaica Inn," which tells of a strange and motley crew of cut-throats operating on the Cornish coast of England. Maureen O'Hara, who was starred in "Hunchback of Notre Dame," is seen opposite Laughton. The other is "Here I Am a Stranger," with Richard Greene as the son of an errant newspaperman who has been divorced by the boy's mother years before. Richard Dix and Brenda Joyce are in the cast.

* * *

Ohio Provides Locale.

Two government institutions located in Ohio provide locale for "They All Come Out," a Majestic film. The story traces the life of a gangster from his first offense until he enters Alcatraz, the formidable fortress prison in San Francisco Bay. During the action scenes are taken at the federal reform prison at Chillicothe, and again at the federal criminal insane institution at Springfield. "Babes In Arms" with Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland provides a lighter tough on the program.

* * *

Spies To The Right.

The people who believe spy and espionage agents in America are just newspaper scareheads, may change their minds after seeing "Hidden Enemy" at the Park. It is a convincing story of the insiducus forces that are at work in our midst. Kay Linaker and Warren Hull have the leading roles. On the same bill the Park offers "Who Killed Stella Trent?" which as the title suggests is a murder mystery. It has Kent Taylor and Linda Hayes.

SELECT STEEL, PLANE SHARES RESUME CLIMB

Other Groups, However, Fail to Show Advancing Tendencies in Slow Mart.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Further moderate advancing tendencies were shown by selected steels and aircrafts in today's stock market.

Rallying trends were lacking in many groups, however, and dealings continued apathetic. Fractional gains and losses were about even.

Bonds and commodities held to a narrowly irregular course, as did the principal European securities markets.

Brokerage quarters still found nothing particularly disheartening in the general run of news but noted most of their customers exhibited a desire to keep speculative slates clean pending war and national political developments and more assurances the domestic economic picture is due to brighten.

A favorable business indicator was seen in the figures of the Bell System disclosing the addition of 82,900 telephones to its lines during February. This compared with a gain of 68,000 in the same 1939 month and 92,000 in February, 1937, which was near the peak of the recovery swing then under way.

Holders of rubber company issues were encouraged by estimates sales in this industry for the first two months of 1940 were as good, and may have been a shade ahead, of the corresponding period a year ago. Sustaining factors were said to be the high rate of automobile production and a brisk increase in foreign shipments since the beginning of the overseas conflict.

LOSES APPEAL

Widow Denied Right to Share in State Compensation.

The county petit jury yesterday returned a directed verdict denying Mrs. Anna Weisenberger the right to share in state industrial compensation payments for the death of her husband, Anton Weisenberger.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston upheld the defense counsel's motion for the directed verdict on the grounds that the evidence did not constitute a cause for action. The jurors signed the verdict.

Attys. Beam and Beam, counsel for Mrs. Weisenberger, contended that Mr. Weisenberger's death in 1936 was the result of injuries he received while employed at the Tappan Stove company plant. The suit for compensation was filed against the Ohio Industrial commission after it turned down Mrs. Weisenberger's claim.

Urge One-Mill Levy to Pay for Extra Firemen

SOLONS WOULD PUT PROBLEM UP TO VOTERS

Propose New Tax as State Acts to Sue 2 Other Cities to Enforce 72-Hour Week.

INTENDED TO RAISE $50,000

Say Additional Funds Would Allow 4 More Firemen, More Equipment, Policemen.

The problem of placing into effect a 72-hour-work week for Mansfield firemen was headed for decision by the city's electorate today as the state department of industrial relations prepared court action against Dayton and Cincinnati to compel those cities to comply with the new state law.

Dispatches from Columbus said Director George A. Strain intended to file mandamus actions in Cincinnati and Dayton today which would require the chief's of the fire departments in those cities to put the shorter work week into effect.

Both cities are among the eight Ohio municipalities accused of violating the law passed by the legislature last fall. The others are Mansfield, Findlay, Zanesville, Cleveland Heights, East Cleveland and Piqua. All have protested that for reasons of economy they cannot afford to observe the law.

Council's finance committee last night recommended the submission of a one-mill levy, intended to raise $50,000 annually for five years, to the voters at the November election.

Would Go on Fall Ballot.

The committee recommended that City Solicitor Marion D. Ward take the necessary steps to prepare the legislation that would place the issue on the fall ballot. The measure will now come before council for action.

"With the additional funds the city could employ the four extra men necessary to place the 72-hour work week in effect, purchase additional equipment needed in the fire department and also have enough funds for additional patrolmen on the police force."

46 Merchants to Join In Display Event This Week

Spring Display Days, an annual event sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, will be observed in Mansfield by 46 merchants for four days, starting tomorrow.

Display windows down town will blossom out with the brightest of spring merchandise, including everything from a jeweled lapel trinket to new household furnishing.

In connection with the Display Days, a bingo and jingle contest will be sponsored by the association with $100 in cash gifts.

Each store will display a bingo letter-number in its display window. To enter, the contestants obtain an entry blank from any participating firm, then visit the display windows, and look for the bingo letter number. When one is found that corresponds to the one on bingo card, the name of the store is written in the proper place.

Contestants are to fill out as many blocks on the bingo card as possible. After the bingo books have been filled out on the card, the last line of the jingle is to be written on the blank.

Prizes for the contest will be awarded on the basis of the bingo cards having the most blocks filled in correctly. In case of ties, the best jingle lines submitted will determine the prize winners.

Prizes will be first $50, 2nd, $25, 3rd, $10, 4th, $5, and ten $1.

Preservation of Democracy Plea of Speakers.

By VIRGIL A. STANFIELD

A magnificent new Mansfield junior high school building that was named for Johnny Appleseed, an eccentric and beloved Richland county character, was dedicated last night while thousands of admiring visitors—too many to hear the ceremonies—thronged the huge building.

The last word in modern educational structures, the Johnny Appleseed school on Cline avenue was opened to the public only a few hours before the dedication and it was estimated that more than 6,000 persons inspected the school during the afternoon and evening.

Preservation of American democracy through a modern educational system was the keynote as six dedication speakers, including a pupil of the new school, talked before a capacity crowd in the school's auditorium which seats a few more than 1,000 persons.

The principal speaker was Dr. C. B. Allen, professor of education at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, who praised the present-day schools for teaching boys and girls what they should do to be good citizens rather than what they shouldn't do.

More pictures of Johnny Appleseed Junior high on Pages 3 and 7.

"We don't teach democracy in schools today—we are democracy and we live it," Dr. Allen said.

"Not so many years ago we taught pupils by centering attention on negative things, but now, instead of lecturing on evils and the short-comings of boys and girls, we concentrate on achievement and the importance of keeping busy to help pupils stay out of mischief."

Upholds Extra Activities.

Upholding the extra-curricular activities in schools, he said, "pupils of today get more education in high school than they did in college a few years ago.

"School administrators were not responsible for these extra activities that the public often criticizes," he esserted. "Virtually every extra-curricular function was forced on the schools by parents and the pupils who wanted more educational advantages for their children.

"It is important to teach character and personality, for our life

Donahey Intimates Roosevelt View Won't Change Mind.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Sen. Vic Donahey, (D., O.,) intimated today that he still plans to retire from public service despite President Roosevelt's expressed hope that he will seek re-election or enter the Ohio gubernatorial race.

Donahey said he was "very happy to know that the president feels so kindly towards me" and added:

"I cannot say whether there is any chance that I will change my mind, I usualy stick to my decisions."

The president disclosed yesterday at his press conference that he expects to ask Donahey to confer with him shortly.

Charley West's About to Lose Brand-New $7,500-a-Year Post

Charley West, the 17th district's gift to the New Deal, is about to be out of a job again, dispatches from Washington said today.

Three weeks ago, West, who has been on and off the federal payroll with the rapidity of the traditional Finegan, was appointed to a $7,500-a-year job after almost two years as the capital's best-known unemployed politician. He was named a member of the processing tax board of review of the treasury department.

Congress has decided that there is no need for more than seven members on the board and West is number No. 8.

He was appointed by Secretary Henry Morgenthau three weeks after the house appropriations committee had cut $15,000 from the 1941 operating budget of the tax board. Both house and senate have approved the cut.

West, former congressman and liaison man between the White House and congress, explained that his present job was considered temporary from the start.

There have been rumors that West might resign to run for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Ohio. This he has yet to recognize as fact.

LEMUNYON GETS CITY JOB BACK

Renamed Sewer Head After State Now Holds He's Not Under Pension System.

S. C. LeMunyon, superintendent of sewer maintenance, was back on the job today after a conference yesterday in Columbus with the State Employes Retirement board.

LeMunyon went to Columbus yesterday with Mayor W. J. Locke to protest his being removed Feb. 24 after the Retirement board had advised Auditor Paul Kelley that LeMunyon was being illegally employed.

LeMunyon contended he had already sent in a letter asking that he be dropped from the Employes Retirement pension system, and had asked that his past payments into the fund, be returned to him.

In the conference yesterday it developed that LeMunyon's letter had been received by the board prior to his dismissal

Locke said the board admitted it had no jurisdiction over LeMunyon, and accordingly reinstated him today.

BANS SECRECY

Judge Holds Police 'Blotter' Open to News Reporters.

NEWARK—(AP)—A court entry acknowledging police arrests, hold-up and robbery reports are public records, permitted Newark Advocate reporters today to obtain police headquarters news after a week's censorship.

City Solicitor Charles Holtsberry and the Advocate's counsel agreed to the entry in common pleas court after the newspaper brought a mandamus suit against Mayor Glenn Wright and Police Chief Gail Christman to permit inspection of the police "blotter."

Mayor Wright sanctioned a news censorship started at the police station Feb. 26. A former police officer, he contended police cases were not public records until they had been disposed of finally. Chief Christman said there had been a misunderstanding.

The Advocate has been critical of Mayor Wright's administrative policies. He took office Jan. 1, the first Republican elected in recent years.

CURBS PICKET, BOYCOTT ACTION

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Labor unions do not have the right to picket and boycott an employer in order to force unorganized employes to join a union, when there is no wage dispute involved, the Ohio supreme court ruled today in a 5 to 2 decision.

The ruling was handed down in deciding the two-year legal battle between Mrs. Pearl E. Crosby, operator for a restaurant in Cleveland, against the Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses union and their officials.

Mrs. Crosby's restaurant was picketed in October 1937 because her employes were not members of the Hotel and Restaurant employes unions. Mrs. Crosby brought a suit in the common pleas court of Cuyahoga county for an injunction to prevent the picketing and boycott.

Mrs. Crosby contended that the defendants were committing acts of violence as part of a conspiracy to injure her business, and thereby compel her to discharge her employes unless they joined the unions.

She contended there was no wage dispute between her and her employes, that her employes worked under written three-month renewable contracts and that in some instances she had employed union members.

HITS PROBATE COURT ACTION IN LIQUOR CASE

Huston Rules Other Tribunal Has No Right to Order Violator's Release.

REFUSES TO GRANT WRIT

Orders Woman Freed Under Insolvency Act to Serve Out Jail Sentence.

Holding that probate court had no right to order her release, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today refused to grant a habeas corpus action brought by Mrs. Mary Kirkendall today, and ordered her back to county jail to serve out the balance of a liquor law violation fine.

Mrs. Kirkendall, who is 40 and resides at 112 North Walnut street was one of three persons sentenced to serve out municipal court fines for liquor law violations who had been released from county jail under the Ohio insolvency act.

The other two were Roy Mason, 32 of 145½ North Main street, and Mrs. Dorothy Williams, 39, of 10½ East Fifth street.

All three were picked up in the last few days on writs of execution issued by municipal court after Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and Solicitor Marion D. Ward had learned they were at liberty.

Mrs. Kirkendall was the only one of the trio to seek her release on a writ of habeas corpus.

2 Freed Pending Hearing.

Applications for the release of all three were filed by Attorney R. J. Brown, commissioner of insolvency in the county after all had testified as to their inability to pay the fines. Mason and Mrs. Williams were released pending hearing on their insolvency applications March 8. Mrs. Kirkendall was released outright.

Attorney Jacob Wagenhals, counsel for Mrs. Kirkendall, contended that her re-arrest on the municipal court writ was illegal in that she had the right of freedom under the insolvency law, granted to her by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson.

Britain Says Search of U. S. Mail Brought Results.

LONDON—(AP)—A government spokesman rejected a suggestion in the house of commons today that Britain had blundered in searching American clipper mail at Bermuda and declared "the government action was correct, and moreover was justified by what was discovered in the mail."

R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, said that under international law a belligerent was at liberty to examine any mail whether neutral or belligerent brought voluntarily within its jurisdiction, and the government had decided to exercise this right at Bermuda from January 18 in respect to eastbound mail carried by the Pan-American Atlantic service.

DAVEY DECISION STIRS UP DEMS

'Too Bad,' Says Limbach of Announcement That He'll Run for Governor.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Ominous rumblings from Ohio Democratic leaders indicated today that former Gov. Martin L. Davey's decision to seek a third term may open old party wounds.

The Kent tree surgeon, entering a field already occupied by seven candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, declared he would concentrate his entire campaign in an attack on the present Republican administration of Gov. John W. Bricker.

Davey's promise that he would "not fight any Democrat" failed to soothe followers of national committeeman Charles Sawyer, who defeated Davey for re-nomination in a bitter primary race in 1938. Sawyer announced recently that in an effort to unite party factions he would not run for governor this year.

Arthur L. Limbach, Democratic state executive chairman, remarked that "it is too bad" that Davey had not seen fit to follow Sawyer's example "with reference to party harmony and the governorship."

Some political observers suggested that the large number of candidates would give Davey a distinct advantage in the primary, while others argued that his opponents might concentrate their votes on a single candidate to narrow the field theoretically.

Among those already announced for governor on the Democratic side are William J. Kennedy, Cleveland, former secretary of sate: Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus, former attorney general: Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland, former congressman-at-large, and James R. Marker of Columbus, former state highway director.

Court Business Soars, Judge Asks Council for Extra Clerk

Council's finance committee had under consideration today a request from Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch for the addition of a deputy clerk to his staff who also would serve as court stenographer.

The request, which was submitted to council last night, was accompanied by a petition bearing the signatures of 48 Mansfield attorneys.

The petition cited in the inconvenience caused litigants in the court by having to furnish their own stenographers and asked that a court stenographer be furnished by the city when necessary in the case of a trial.

Judge Kalbfleisch in making his request for the additional clerk, cited his annual report for the past five years which he said have shown a "constant increase" in the amount of work that has been handled in the civil branch.

"This work alone has gone completely beyond the ability of one girl," he said, pointing out that the number of civil cases filed with the court during 1939 doubled the number in 1939.

There are now two deputy clerks employed by the court, one handling the civil branch and the other the criminal division.

Judge Kalbfleisch in his communication said that the clerks in his office have worked for the past two years without a vacation and many as "three and four nights a week" until 10 and 11 p. m.

BRITISH HOLD 9 VESSELS AS 'CONTRABAND'

BULLETIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— The ministry of economic warfare disclosed today that one of the Italian ships held in the British contraband control had been released because it had sailed from its port of departure prior to March 2.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Two more Italian ships were herded by the British navy into the contraband control station at the Downs today, bringing to nine the number of Italian ships detained in the controversy over German coal exports.

The ministry of economic warfare said all nine were flying the Italian ensign and all were "assumed to be carrying coal."

Today's additions to the growing list were the Liana and Rapido, both rated as colliers. The other seven are the Orata, Felce, Caterina, Absertia, Ernesto, Numida and Loasso.

The last-named, at first described as a tanker, has been identified as a coal ship, the ministry said.

The Liana, 6,400 tons, was one of three Italian ships which left Rotterdam March 1, just before the British clamped down on German coal shipments to Italy, but later returned to the Dutch port.

The British blockade patrols worked in apparent disregard of Italy's bitter week-end protest which asserted the blockade was endangering economic and political relations of Britain and Germany's axis partner.

Meanwhile the foreign office was drafting a formal reply to the Rome protest.

British destroyers were waiting for others of a fleet of Italian colliers preparing to sail from Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Two other Italian ships lay off Deal for a day or two, but left today with pilots aboard for a northern British port.

Shipping circles expressed belief they were going to pick up cargoes of English coal for Italy, although the British and Italian government are at odds over the question of supplying Italy's coal needs from British mines.

ACTRESS DIES

Maxine Elliot Gained Fame in Both Europe and U. S.

CANNES, France —(AP)— Maxine Elliott, 67, famous American actress who achieved success both in Europe and the United States, died last night at her chateau at Juan Les Pins.

For many years since her retirement from the stage Miss Elliott had lived on the French Riviera at her Villa L'Horizon where European royalty and other notables were frequent guests.

A famous beauty of the early part of the century, Miss Elliott made her last stage appearance in 1920 at her own theater in New York after 30 years as an actress.

All attempts to get her to return to the theater were refused with the assertion that she wished to "grow middle-aged gracefully."

happiness is connected with them. We used to think we couldn't do anything about either of them, but now we know that they can be trained and developed."

Dr. Allen said the name "Johnny Appleseed" was probably "the smartest of any junior high school in the country because it is symbolic of the growth and fertility of children's minds.

"I'm not so sure that you don't have the appleseeds in junior high school and we have too much applesauce in colleges," he continued.

H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education, presented Glenn G. Rohleder, principal of the school, with a large key to the building. The key, made of gilded wood, was decorated with a big red ribbon.

Rohleder, who presided during the ceremonies, said he was handing the key on to the public as an "invitation to visit us at the school any time."

"May this key symbolize the hidden stories of adventure and knowledge that may be found beyond the doors of our class rooms,' Rohleder said.

In his presentation talk, Arlin pointed out that there may never be another time when the city can get so much for its money as it received in the million-dollar building program just completed.

The federal PWA grant enabled the city to bear its $550,000 share of the cost of the schools at a three-tenths of a mill less tax rate than property owners paid in 1935. The present rate for schools is 2.3 mills as compared with 2.6 mills five years ago, he said.

Other Dedication March 15.

The Johnny Appleseed building is one of the two $450,000 schools built under the huge program. The other building is the new John Simpson school which will be dedicated March 15.

"The backbone of any democracy is education, and if we smother education, we smother democracy," Supt. W. L. Miller said in a brief address of greetings.

"In no other nation would it be possible to hold such a meeting as this tonight with the same freedom and tranquillity," he said. "We dedicate this building to the pereptuation of democratic ideals.

"You are not guests here, but shareholders in this enterprise, and we have called you here to render an accounting of our stewardship."

Mrs. Emma Young, Americanism chairman of the American Legion auxiliary, presented the school with a large flag in behalf of Earl McVey post, American Legion and auxiliary.

Ralph Tykodi, ninth grade pupil in the Johnny Appleseed school, replied, asserting that "we hope we will be able to keep alive the immortal traditions for which the flag stands.'"

The invocation was given by Rev. M. A. Eakin, pastor emeritus of the United Presbyterian church. Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, gave the benediction.

Music was provided by the combined Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson junior high school orchestras

Introduces Guests.

Among special guests who sat on the stage and were introduced by Rohleder were:

Dr. John S. Hattery, vice president of the board of education; W. C. Mead, Harold Bruce and Alvin Fankhauser, board members; John H. Eisaman, clerk of the board; W. L. Althouse and W. S. Jones, architects for the building; C. F. Steinle and Stanley Wolfe of Fremont, contractors who built the school; Mrs. Milo Heiber, president of the Mansfield P. T. A. council; Earl Wendell, president of the Johnny Appleseed P. T. A.; Floyd Dent, Boy Scout executive; John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce; W. R. Grebe, superintendent for the architects; J. B. Moke, superintendent of Mansfield school buildings; Mrs. Robert Jones, president of the American Legion auxiliary; Mrs. John McNamara, community service chairman for the Legion auxiliary; H. J. Dotson, principal of John Simpson junior high school, and Jesse Beer, principal of Senior high school.

From the time they got their first glimpse of the brilliantly lighted building as they came over the Cline avenue hill visitors were impressed by the beauty and completness of the "stream-lined" school.

Possibly the most impresive feature of the building is the big gymnasium which must be the realization of every athletic instructor's dream.

From the attractive checkerboard pattern maple floor to the large balcony and band pit at the north end of the room, the gymnasium represents the finest in athletic facilities. A little smaller than the one at Senior high school, the gymnasium was designed to supply the needs of the junior high school for years to come.

It is equipped with folding bleacher seats which pull out like an accordion and look like a row of dresser drawers when they are closed. The seats facilitate preparations for basketball games and leave more space on the floor when they are closed.

Visitors liked the well-lighted and convenient classrooms which are equipped with new style light-weight desks. The book space is under the seats in the desks instead of in front of the pupil. Every room has indirect lighting which eliminates the glare and protects the eyes of pupils.

Equipped with the latest in electric refrigerators and gas ranges, the spic and span home economics rooms would make any housewife happy. In the rooms the girls can get their training under conditions they would find in the best of homes.

There are stages in the band and drama rooms, glass tile windows over the stairways to let the light in, and a two-way communication system in the principal's office that would make a modern police department envious.

At a large panel in his office the principal can talk to any room in the building or broadcast radio and phonograph programs to the pupils. He can also "tune in" any room and speak with the teachers. The two-way equipment includes two powerful radio sets that will pick up foreign stations.

Air-conditioned throughout, the Johnny Appleseed building was designed along severe, modernistic lines. It has no fancy ornamentation. Every feature was built for convenience and efficiency, not to be decorative.

Teachers and pupils were guides for visitors during the "open house" periods yesterday afternoon and last night. Every guest received a copy of the dedication program and the floor plan of the building.

School Paper Makes Debut for Dedication

With the dedication of the new Johnny Appleseed school yesterday, pupils in the school published the first issue of their new paper, The Appleseed Press. Containing 16 pages of news, pictures, and advertising, copies of the paper were given to visitors at the school yesterday afternoon and last night.

Bill Sweet is editor of the new publication and Dorothy Arlin is his first assistant. Dick Talbot is business manager, while Miss Dortha Shaffer is faculty editorial adviser and Nelson Neff is faculty business adviser.

SLOW START

Shortage of WPA Men on 4th Street Job Feared.

A shortage in WPA workers in Mansfield and the county is expected next month when the West Fourth street paving project opens, according to Mayor W. J. Locke who conferred with WPA officials in Columbus yesterday.

Locke said he was informed that there are now only 78 unemployed or unassigned WPA workers in the entire county, and that the project will require 250 at the start.

Because of this, the work may get away to a slow start, Locke said, until other projects are completed and workers released. At the present time there are 481 men and 218 women employed on WPA projects in the city and county. This includes the "white collar" projects, Locke said.

argument, citing supreme court decisions which held that the fine imposed in the case was a penalty and not a debt, as defense counsel had contended, and ruled that Mrs. Kirkendall must remain in county jail until the balance of her fine is worked out at $1.50 per day.

Solicitor Ward argued that the insolvency law did not apply to liquor violation cases.

Mrs. Kirkendall had served only 66 days of a required 344-day sentence. She had been fined $500 and costs on a charge of illegal possession and sale of liquor.

Mason had served 108 days of 280 days, and Mrs. Williams had served 109 days of 346 days.

As the result of Judge Huston's ruling today, counsel for the other two defendants in the disputed cases indicated that no habeas actions would be filed to seek their releases. Mrs. Williams' and Mason's incolvency hearings however are scheduled to be heard Friday before Judge Anderson.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Scores of witnesses were questioned today by fire officials seeking the cause of a roaring fire that swept an unfinished $1,250,000 hangar at LaGuardia field, New York's $40,000,000 airport.

The fire, causing part of the roof to collapse and steel girders to buckle, started in a painter's shack within the hangar late yesterday afternoon. A dozen firemen and workmen narrowly missed death when the roof caved in.

Columbus attorney and former high school principal, and Lawrence T. Baker of Columbus, WPA plumber's helper.

In a prepared statement, Davey referred to Governor Bricker as "hypocritical, unreliable stuffed shirt and heartless."

"He slapped labor in the face at every turn, and he has shown a prejudice against labor in the administration of the unemployment insurance," Davey said.

"Mr. Bricker has done absolutely nothing to help the farmers of Ohio. He has done nothing constructive for business. * * * When he was elected governor, he swelled up like a poisoned pup and has acted that part of a conceited, selfish man ever since."

Davey said Bricker's economy claims were "fraudulent."

"The official reports of the state auditor show that he spent $23,000,000 more than we did in 1938," his statement continued. "They also show that he spent $1,000,000 more for salary and wages than we did in 1938, in spite of the fact that he cut wages among the poorly paid, neglected the highways, and allowed bootlegging to grow by leaps and bounds."

Bricker is virtually assured of the Republican nomination this year and Davey said the Democrats needed only "a reasonably united party" to defeat him since Bricker "is at least 300,000 votes weaker than when he was elected in 1938."

Meanwhile, in Washington, Ray T. Miller, Cuyahoga county Democratic chairman who is reported preparing a slate of national convention delegate-candidates pledged to Postmaster General James A. Farley for president, conferred with Farley who said later that "we discussed the political situation in the city, state and nation."

Sawyer, who has been designated "favorite son" candidate for president by the state Democratic organization, said he planned to confer with Miller by telephone today. Sawyer pledged delegates would support President Roosevelt if he sought a third term.

Sen. Vic Donahey, informed that the president expressed the hope that the senator would reconsider his decision to retire, said he would be glad to talk to the president about it. Donahey said Monday that his decision was final.

In Toledo, Rep. Dudley A. White of Norwalk, Republican candidate for the U. S. senate, criticized the 1940 census questions which he said would give citizens "a taste of the New Deal snooping policies which business has had to endure for the last seven years."

Sportsmen to Dine In Two 'Shifts' at Dinner March 21

So many people are expected to attend the Sportsmen's dinner, to be given by the Richland County Fish and Game association at North Lake park pavilion March 21, that the sponsors have decided to serve the dinner in "shifts."

The "first table" will be seated at 5:30 p. m., and the second at 6:30, it was decided at a meeting of the association at North Lake park pavilion last night. Entertainment will be provided for those who have to wait.

Attorney John Catlett will be toastmaster, and the principal speaker will be V. B. Gray, Cleveland Plain Dealer outdoors expert.

About 200 attended last night's regular meeting of the association and heard a talk on "The Meaning of Conservation" by George R. Emmett, Columbus, member of the bureau of public relations of the conservation department.

SAYS CHRISTIAN EDUCATION KEY TO DEMOCRACY

Rival Education Philosophies Pictured by Second 'Open Forum' Speaker.

Christian education is the only safeguard for a true democracy, Dr. R. J. Gabel, head of the education department of DeSales college at Toledo, asserted last night in the second of a series of "Open Forum" lectures at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom.

Pointing out that education, "like everything else in the world is in a state of confusion," Dr. Gabel discussed the two rival philosophies of education in his address entitled, "Education: Democratic or Totalitarian?"

The lecture was the second of a series of five sponsored by Catholic societies of Mansfield and was heard by an audience of 300. He substituted for Dr. W. T. Sullivan, professor of European history at DeSales college, who was taken ill yesterday with a throat ailment and removed to a hospital. Dr. Sullivan, who was to speak on "Peace or War?", will appear here later in the series. Dr. Gabel's talk was originally scheduled for April 3.

Education has been a topic of national interest since the foundation of this nation, Dr. Gâbel said.

Bulwark of Liberties.

"It always has been regarded as the bulwark of our prized liberties and of our democratic form of government," he added. "Today many intelligent citizens are beginning to doubt whether certain educational tendencies of present day education will not result in the destruction of our liberties."

He pointed out that the fundamental consideration should be of the two rival philosophies of education which give contradictory answers to the deepest problems of man: his nature, origin, destiny, personality and rights.

"One is Christian and the other is the so-called 'progressive' philosophy," Dr. Gabel said. "Both claim their principles to be truly democratic while the tenets of the rival school are said to be destructive of true democracy. Such confusion of terms illustrates the uncertainty of modern life, and if Americans desire to retain their liberties, it behooves them to formulate clearly their own concepts of democracy, of life, of education."

"Christian education is essentially a dualistic outlook of life, recognizing in the first place the distinction between the permanent and changing elements.

"God holds the central place in its study of the universe; Christ in its study of man. It regards as its final end the formation of the true and perfect Christian who acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason and the teaching of Christ.

"It has place for every reasonable objective of education—sound health, wholesome family light, intellectual cultivation, economic efficiency, good citizenship, profitable leisure, but each of these must be evaluated in terms of the underlying principles of God's law."

He held that Christian education is the only safeguard of democracy "because it conceives democracy as a state of society in which the natural rights, dignity and essential equality of every member are respected."

Scores 'Progressive Education.'

Dr. Gabel assailed "progressive education" as "a philosophy which must necessarily be anti-Christian, atheistic, evolutionary, man-centered, deriving all its ideals in every day experience."

"It rejects all tradition and all authority. It decries all indoctrination yet demands for itself the right to indoctrinate children in the belief that nothing is fixed or permanent, or derived from the will of a Creator, but that the social group must reconstruct society according to the interests of the individual and the utility of the group.

"This philosophy is called 'the Democratic way of life' by its supporters, but such democracy is not the traditional American democracy but a form of socialism."

Dr. Gabel asserted however, that there were "encouraging signs of renewed interest in Christianity and in religious education are appearing which may result in our children receiving again the kind of education which is their inheritance, bequeathed to them by the founders of this nation—a Christian education."

Atty. C. J. Kalbfleisch presided during the lecture and the question and answer period which followed.

The third lecture in the series is scheduled for next Monday night at the Leland hotel.

Wood Cutter Kicks at 'Brush'; It Was a Black Bear.

ROOSEVELT, Minn. —(AP)— He wasn't timed but John Miklosh set some kind of a speed record. Miklosh was cutting timber. A companion, half a mile away, heard him yell and a very short time later saw Miklosh streak past.

The reason: Miklosh kicked at some brush that got in the way of his ax. The "bursh" was the paw of a half-awake black bear.

NEW DEAL LOSES IN IOWA VOTING

Republican Gets Congress Seat In Wallace's District.

DES MOINES, Ia.—(INS)—Robert K. Goodwin, 36-year-old Republican, was the winner by a wide margin today over his Democratic opponent in a special election in Iowa's sixth congressional district which was watched for indications of a trend in the corn belt vote.

Complete unofficial returns in the election, held to select a successor to the seat in congress left vacant by the death of the late Cassius C. Dowell (R), showed Goodwin the winner by approximately 29,250 votes to 18,770 for Byron G. Allen, Democrat and avowed New Dealer.

Mansfield News-Journal
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1940.

The passing years also tend to shake confidence in the accuracy of illustrations in garden seed catalogs.

The quiet little lamb that ushered in March a few days ago hasn't been behaving so nicely as had been hoped.

If the intelligence of pupils has kept pace with improvement in school facilities there'll be no need to worry about the future.

Rumors About Peace Plans

MANY rumors are circulated about European peace plans—which might be called plans to stop the new World war before it really starts. An interesting document printed in the English press and attributed to the German minister in Dublin contained these conditions:

"Germany is prepared to agree to an independent, reconstructed Poland, freedom for reconstituted Czech and Slovak states, disarmament all around, membership in a reformed League of Nations, return of all or some of her colonies or some other means of providing her with adequate raw materials."

Whether these proposals are put into circulation with Hitler's knowledge and consent is doubtful. He would, of course, deny all knowledge of them. But whoever may be doing it, for whatever purpose, they suggest some reasonable lines along which peace might be made and a new European order established.

Anything of the kind is well worth discussing, to clarify the thinking of belligerents and noncombatants alike, in this temporary lull.

Pro and Con of Women Workers

SOME of the views expressed by Miss Vivien Kellems, of New York, in the course of an address before the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club a couple of nights ago, can at least be made the basis for thought along lines of probable future developments in more widespread employment of women in industry and business than is now practicable.

Keeping in mind the rapidly changing public attitude toward the entry of women into the professions and their employment in positions ordinarily regarded as "men's work," the progress made within the past two decades has been remarkable, with indications that the next ten years will be marked by even greater sex equality in industrial and business employment—hampered only by shortage of jobs rather than by out-moded inhibitions or prejudices.

As was said by Miss Kellems, there are certain kinds of work to which women are peculiarly well fitted, and even now there should be no question as to women's rights to fair consideration for any position to which she aspires and in which her competency equals that of other applicants.

Past and present resistance to employment of women, except in limited fields, has been based largely on economic grounds or on the theory that "a woman's place is in the home." This accounts for the idea, still held in some quarters, that married women should not engage in any kind of remunerative employment—which, after all, means only that while there is a shortage of jobs a married woman should not enter into competition with men in seeking or holding employment, but should depend on her husband for support.

And the reality of present conditions appears to justify this attitude, although it does not excuse the resultant sacrifice of the services of married women in positions they are especially well qualified to fill.

A more ideal situation, which may be expected to develop as human intelligence advances, is that there will be plenty of work for everybody and that there will be no further need for discrimination against employing women, single or married, in any kind of jobs they are qualified to fill.

But progress toward this accomplishment will be slow—so slow that only the early steps toward it can be expected in this generation.

Canada's Bonus To Visitors

THERE is an interesting money situation now as regards the United States and Canada. The Canadian government insists on paying American visitors a 10 per cent bonus on their money.

That 10 per cent is legal, to be sure, as Canadian money, normally at par with American money, is at a discount because of the war. Americans sending or taking their money to Canada have a right to the premium. But ordinarily, importers of money that is above par have to ask for their premium. The interesting fact now is that Canada insists on paying the premium, and is getting tough with Canadians who, in accepting a $10 American banknote, fail to allow $11 of Canadian money for it.

The reason for Canada's extra-painful squareness about it is that the Dominion needs American tourist money for exchange to pay for heavy imports of American war supplies.

Continue World Fair Exhibits

POSSIBLY more nations will be at war before the spring is over, but at the beginning of March, there were forty-seven different countries not at war with each other, and two others now existing only in spirit and hope (Poland and Czecho-Slovakia), all planning continued participation in a world's fair.

That pleasingly long list does not carry the names of all the world's non-belligerents, either. There are a number that feel the financial cost must exceed the returns and so remain unrepresented.

It is as reassuring to find so many nations at peace as it is distressing to realize that the aggression of a few can wreck prosperity and retard civilization for all the rest.

Colleges Miss Big Gifts

MANY American colleges have been caught in recent years with fine plants and no money to run them. Rich men who provided the buildings and perhaps also promised funds for their operation went broke, and the usual means of support vanished.

Out of this situation has grown a practice of financing operations from year to year by means of small subscriptions from hundreds of thousands of friends of the institutions. This is more wholesome than the former procedure, because it spreads the base of collegiate support and makes the institutions more democratic. It also enlists the continuous interest of the alumni.

This may come to be the normal practice of the future, not merely for current support of established colleges but for the creation of new ones.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Most Broadway and Hollywood writers sin against accuracy every time they use the words "star" and "great." Especially is this true when the writing concerns the theater or the films. On Broadway almost everybody refers to almost everyone in the theater as a "star," and in Hollywood so many "great" pictures are being produced that conveyor-belts are needed to get them out of the way.

There are about a dozen Broadway columns in the New York papers, and this morning they listed 47 actors and actresses as "stars." If you checked those papers for a week the total would run into the hundreds.

I mention this as a deep-dyed sinner - against - accuracy myself and because, actually, there aren't more than a handful of stars in the whole, wide scope of the American theater. I would say that at most the theater has only seven or eight women stars, and maybe five or six men. Helen Hayes, Lynn Fontanne, Ina Claire, Gertrude Lawrence, Katharine Cornell, Ruth Gordon, and Ethel Barrymore just about conclude the list. There may be one or two others. Among men I would name Walter Huston, Alfred Lunt, Paul Muni, Leslie Howard, George M Cohan and John Barrymore.

* * *

THERE are any number of able, conscientious people right behind these. But they still have long way to go, and if any real standards of acting are to be recognized they cannot legitimately be classified as stars.

You'll find on Broadway today many nice people who have had a hit now and then and who may have other hits in the future. But one hit, or two hits, doesn't make for greatness. The woods are full of one-shot Johnnies who flame brilliantly for awhile and never quite fulfill their earlier promise.

A fair example of this, I think, is little Helen Claire who was on Broadway last year in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye." Miss Claire is a lovely young woman with a face and a figure that are very pleasing across the footlights. Her name was up in big bright lights and for awhile she was the toast of the town. But after awhile "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" ran its course, and now—less than a year after—she is remembered only as the girl with a southern accent who was very good in one Broadway show.

While she was on Broadway she must have been "starred" hundreds of times. But Helen Claire will have to duplicate that success many times and in many kinds of comedies and dramas before she can hope to belong with the Lawrences and Barrymores.

* * *

SO MUCH for Broadway and the stars. Out in Hollywood the boys take their jags on an entirely different brand of catnip. They go in for "great." I have read where at least nine "great" pictures have been released in recent weeks. "Gone" was a great picture. "Mr. Smith" was great. So were "Grapes" and "Mice." So was "Wuthering." "Pinocchia.. was great too.

Now, maybe all these pictures really are great. But it seems to me that at least one of these named must be considerably better than the others, and in that case you have one great film and several very good seconds. It also seems to me that when greatness comes along in carload lots the very qualities that make them great become a commonplace. And when that happens, what have you got but a nice lineup of average pictures?

I know of one movie, and only one, that I think is great: it was made 20 years ago and I think it will still be great 50 years from now. Its name was "The Birth of a Nation." How great do you think "The Grapes of Wrath" will be, say 20 years from now, in 1960?

Natural Agents Replacing Drugs.

—By DR. CLENDENING

IT IS a sign of our times in medicine that we are getting away from the excessive or inevitable use of drugs. Modification of natural agents—food, heat and cold, water, light, exercise, etc.—is being recognized more and more as the most efficient method of treatment.

Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the modern treatment of children. The old habit of dosing children regularly and interminably is disappearing.

Heat is a valuable physical agent which may take the place of drugging in many cases. One method is the use of compresses, poultices or electrical heating pads in close contact to the body for pain, inflammation and swelling. Even more convenient and safe for children is infra-red radiation from luminous or non-luminous sources.

How Cold Is Used.

Cold is used in the form of ablutions, packs and baths, and is a well-established form of treatment in children for combating fever, for stimulation or sedation.

Ultra-violet radiation produces changes in the skin, increases the vitamin D, stimulates the body defenses against disease and prevents recurrent infections.

Regarding exercise and manipulation, active or passive movements of single muscles and groups of muscles and local exercises are used to overcome the consequences of injury, in the convalescence of deformities in joints, and in infantile paralysis.

Massage will produce sedation if given in the form of a gentle, superficial stroking: it will increase the efficiency of circulation if done with deep stroking. Kneading of the muscles stretches tendons and restores tone.

In anemia ultra-violet radiation is a very useful adjunct to other forms of treatment. It is well known that in childhood sunlight is the treatment of choice for tuberculosis of the bones and joints and lymph nodes. Artificial radiation may be used as a substitute in mild cases. In St. Vitus' dance artificial fever has been used with great benefit.

In children who show a physical and mental letdown during the spring months, ultra-violet radiation has been used with splendid results.

In the chronic winter cough due to what has been called the "rickety diathesis," lights baths are of value.

Timely Editorial

Let Inquiry Continue.

No logical objection can be offered to the requested appropriation to continue the work of the Smith committee of the House in investigating the dubious record of the National Labor Relations Board. The inquiry last week revealed the procedure undertaken by the Labor Board to blackjack industrial corporations through trying to shut off RFC finance payment if there were complaints of unfair labor practices.

Fair minded citizens generally will say, "Go ahead." Get the whole story of the operation of this board. It is time for a full report on this administration of this act.

Detailed proposals for revision of the Labor Relations Act based upon the excellent record of mediation railway labor problems has already been submitted to the Smith committee. However the fact finding task should be completed first.—Toledo Blade.

How Can We Get Along Without Hurting the Other Fellow?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

"HOW," she sighs, "CAN I DEFEND MY OWN RIGHTS WITHOUT HURTING ANYONE'S FEELINGS?"

Oldest question on earth—you and I have asked it thousands of times. Here we are trying to get along together in a busy, crowded world. All of us bound together—depending on each other. Yet each one of us with a different personal program, different needs, different notions of right or wrong. And each one of us faced with the necessity of maintaining his own rights, fighting for his own plan and place.

How can we do it without stepping on the other fellow's toes?

The answer's simple. We can't. We shouldn't expect to. And the other fellow shouldn't be peeved because we can't.

But we don't like to accept that answer. It seems harsh. It demands a lot of spunk to put it across—results in some highly unpleasant scenes. And we're sentimental . . . lazy and cowardly. We don't like tears. Or fuss. It's pleasanter to give up. "Do anything for peace." So we take the easy way—

F'rinstance, there's that familiar brawl over mixing relatives with business. The family's worried over Sister Susie. Sister Susie is the Original Bonehead. Nobody knows what to do with her—everybody's trying to pass her onto somebody else. So the family decides that it would be perfectly lovely if Robert would take Susie into his office.

Robert protests with vigorous yelps. Sister Susie will raise Cain with his work. But suppose he refused? There'll be the devil to pay. Everybody mad—bawling all over the place. He can't face it. So nine times out of ten Susie gets the job and Robert takes the rap—and spends all his spare time thereafter being sorry for himself and blaming the family.

But is it the family's fault? Not at all. It is up to Robert to defend his own job and his own life. And if he doesn't it's due—not to the family's sobs or snorts, but HIS OWN SPINELESSNESS.

Mature life is a serious job. A youngster can honorably avoid unpleasantness . . . "get along nicely with other people" by letting them have their own way. But no decent adult can ooze through existence in that manner. Adults have responsibilities to be met, rights to be defended, opportunities to be developed. These aren't merely selfish desires—they are fundamental duties.

But suppose other people hinder us with their selfishness, their stupidity, and sentimentality?

THEN WE MUST DEFEND OURSELVES AGAINST THEM.

And if they feel hurt—?

THAT'S THEIR BAD LUCK. THEY HAVE IT COMING TO THEM. IF PEOPLE CULTIVATE OR CODDLE QUALITIES WHICH BLOCK THE TRAFFIC, THEY MUST EXPECT TO BE PENALIZED.

Meaning everybody? MEANING EVERYBODY—BEST BELOVEDS AS WELL AS STRANGERS AND ENEMIES.

Does that, then, imply that we should serve our own interests ruthlessly, riding rough shod over anyone that gets in our way. Of course it doesn't. It simply means that our life is our most precious gift and sacred obligation. It's up to us to make the most of it, not only for ourselves, but for those we love. And if the other fellow hinders us, we've no more right to coddle his cussedness than we'd have to coddle our own.

Ohio Anecdotes

Lincoln Criticized.

Ashtabula countain Ben F. Wade, arch critic of President Lincoln during the Civil war, was in 1837 nominated to the Ohio senate without his knowledge or consent.

Wade, whose parents pioneered to the Ohio country from Massachusetts in 1821, was a farmer, driver, drover, laborer, medical student and school teacher before he became a law partner of Joshua Giddings in 1828.

In 1851 without personal effort he was elected to the U. S. senate, a Whig. In Edwin M. Stanton, Ohioan and secretary of war during the Civil war, Wade found a kindred spirit in his criticism of Lincoln.

Lincoln's critics hailed Vice President Johnson's accession to the murdered Lincoln's chair. With Johnson's impeachment, however, Wade, who would have succeeded to the presidency, was so confident that the president would be expelled from office that he began selection of a cabinet before the trial concluded. Johnson was found not guilty.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Truth Is Ageless.

These things are ageless: furniture
In patterned beauty wrought
By hand, old china and old glass,
Old silver that has caught

The light a hundred years or more,
And has worn thin but lost
None of its charm, these things have worth
Beyond all thought of cost.

These things are good and permanent,
And they are fine and true
And while they bear us company
They bring a message, too.

A sermon of the worth of all
That life holds up as "best."
These things speak out to us and say,
"Let truth's goal be your quest."

Covered Wagon

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

UP IN the loft of his barn, where the hens make nests in it, my neighbor has an antique wagon bed. The boards along the sides are made of soft, light wood and it rests upon two bolsters of strong oak that used to fit on the front and rear axles of the wagon wheels: Standards were mortised in that reached upward beyond the broad sides. Wide staples of wrought iron held the bows of the covered top. The top is long since gone, and in the bottom of the 18 foot bed last year's straw is piled for hens to scratch in.

As I stood there, high above the barn floor, and placed my hands upon this old relic, I pieced together in my imagination the saga of western transportation. I could visualize the ashen bows in place with the weatherbeaten covering stretched over the entire top. A heavy drawstring looped the firm cloth and drew it together behind until only a tiny circle remained. The front was left open nearly to the forward standing bow. A rough board, worn smooth by use as a driver's seat, was attached to the frame at each side. Beneath this board tools and sometimes valuables were hidden away.

In such a wagon my own kin came to our native state. Farm tools were brought along—plows with old self-sharpener points, axes, saws and guns—always guns conveniently placed near the front and rear. Seeds for the summer's planting, food for the trip and some days longer; household goods and cloth spun and woven by patient hands of pioneer women. The reel, the spinning wheel, the candle mold, the flax heckle, the wool comb, the precious irons of the hearth—a big black pot and a shiny brass kettle.

My grandfather had such a wagon on his barn floor when I was a very little boy. He led me with him to the barn one summer morning, my small hand hidden in his calloused palm. How tall and strong he seemed, yet he was old. I stumbled as I looked up into his firm wrinkled face to ask him eager questions. I remember the ease with which he tripped the lever that opened the great barn doors, and how vast the interior seemed. We walked up close to the old prairie schooner—it looked monstrous to my childish eyes—and he told me that a family had gone west in it, gotten fever and ague, then homesickness, and come back. He pointed out the holes of bullets in the sides and told me there was an Indian's grave under the red apple tree "up yonder." The Indians claimed the spring down where your house is now," he said, "but we drove them away."

Wagon wheels—echoing wagon wheels! Over broad smooth highways, now, we roll in motor cars. Streamlined railroad trains run parallel to our course and overhead graceful clipper ships speed across the blue. What relics will my grandchild see, I wonder! Will outworn airplanes furnish nests for hens, too, in the distant future?

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—On your calendar there is nothing to distinguish March 11 from any other day, but among political insiders it is a date awaited with intense interest.

On March 11 a federal grand jury is slated to meet in Indianapolis, and its proceedings may have a profound effect upon the career of handsome Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator and ambitious White House aspirant.

As first revealed by the Washington Merry-Go-Round (Jan. 12 and 29), the Internal Revenue Bureau for some time has been quietly probing the famous Hoosier Democratic ("Two Per Cent") club, and the tax returns of several top-flight Indiana Democratic chieftains, including McNutt. This investigation is still unfinished, but some reports have been received by treasury executives.

The big question being excitedly discussed in inner Washington circles is whether the convening of the federal grand jury means that the administration is preparing to repeat its Kansas City and New Orleans prosecutions, which smashed the notorious Pendergast and Huey Long machines.

* * *

Questions Asked.

THE Indiana findings of the revenue agents are a closely guarded secret, but political leaders have learned the following:

1. That the investigators asked officials of the American Legion in Indianapolis for the records of a Legion "trial," which had been held to consider charges that a "cut" on a Legion-sponsored tour abroad, during McNutt's term as national commander, had not been properly accounted for. Frank McHale, rotund manager of McNutt's presidential campaign, acted as his defense attorney in this proceeding.

The investigators are understood to have been informed that the money was accounted for, but that the records of the trial have disappeared from Legion files.

2. That the investigators are checking all state highway commission warrants paid to contractors from 1933 to 1939, when Governor Townsend ousted Earl Crawford, highway chairman who had been secretary to Governor McNutt, and C. W. McAlpin, highway purchasing agent originally appointed by McNutt.

* * *

Beer and Gambling.

3. That the investigators have been scrutinizing the affairs of the state beer monopoly sponsored by McNutt as governor. Under this set-up all out-of-state beer had to clear through licensed ports of entry. The state alcoholic beverage commission designated these ports and also licensed beer importers.

It has long been charged in Indiana that the ABC dished these licenses out to favored politicians and dealers. Also, that a number of high Democratic moguls were "silent partners" in these lucrative franchises.

Note—It is a treasury secret that the investigation of the "Two Per Cent" club was prompted by the discovery that an official of the organization was a silent partner in a southern Indiana been set-up, and had been very careless about reporting income he had received from this connection.

4. That the investigators have been on the trail of a secret "slush fund" understood to have been contributed by gamblers, as a gesture of appreciation for McNutt's policy that gambling was a local enforcement problem, and that state police were not to meddle unless requested in writing by a responsible city executive. Governor Townsend reversed this policy, and under him the state police have conducted extensive raids.

* * *

"Purist" Faction.

5. That neither Governor Townsend nor Fred F. Bays, Democratic state chairman, are involved in these affairs. Both are leaders of the so-called "purist" faction that has been making a determined fight to house-clean the Indiana organization. Townsend refused to sign the bill exempting the "Two Per Cent" club from the corrupt practices act and is backing Bays in his clean-up movement.

Working closely with them is Clarence U. Gramelspacher, new treasurer of the club, who recently served personal notice on Bowman Elder, intimate of McHale, that he will sign no checks until satisfied they are for legitimate expenditures.

Note—Playing a leading behind-the-scenes role in the investigation is Val Nolan, dynamic U. S. district attorney for southern Indiana, who urged a probe of the state machine as far back as 1937. Since the retirement of Attorney General Homer Cummings, Nolan has indicted and convicted Olin R. Holt, Democratic mayor of Kokomo: Carl Kortopeter, a district WPA director; and last month rocked the state by indicting Arthur V. Brown, leading banker.

* * *

No Gun-Runner.

THE protocle office of the state department ran into a novel war-born problem the other day when David Gray, new minister to Ireland, came in to make plans for his departure.

Gray is a tall, slender gentleman, with a taste for hunting. He told the protocol office that he couldn't be happy on the other side without his sportsman's shotgun.

"But I am going to Dublin by way of Europe," said Gray. "I wonder what they will think of a U. S. diplomat if he shows up in the war areas with a shotgun?"

Gray was assured that, enjoying diplomatic immunity, he would not be jailed as a gun-runner.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

DESPITE talk of early adjournment, congressional leaders privately predict that the session will not wind up until around June 15, ten days before the Republican convention. Reason is that with congress functioning both parties have a grand sounding-board to air their partisan views . . . Republican liberals, miffed over the appointment of Ernest T. Weir, anti-union steel mogul, as chairman of the party's finance committee, say it was secretly dictated by Joseph Pew, multi-millionaire oilman and boss of the Pennsylvania G. O. P. The liberals contend Weir's selection was a serious tactical blunder, as it is certain to offend the labor vote. . . . Colonel Teddy Roosevelt, jr., Dewey backer, may still be a member of the New York convention delegation. "Young Teddy" was excluded by G. O. P. leaders hostile to Dewey, but supporters of the young district attorney expect to find a place for Roosevelt by having one of the Brooklyn designees withdraw in his favor.

EAT COOKIES, THAT'S PLEA OF GIRL SCOUTS

Have a cookie?

Every household in Mansfield will be asked this question by an enterprising Girl Scout sometime between March 8 and 18, according to plans for Girl Scout Cookie week.

If the program is carried out as planned 132,000 cookies—count 'em—will be sold and delivered in the city by one of Mansfield's youngest but hardest-working character building agencies.

The Girl Scouts want a recreational center somewhere in the country near here, and they are willing to work and earn their own money. All they ask is a little co-operation from individuals — especially in the matter of cookies. Their recreational center will be used for over-night hikes, week-end camps and other parties.

The Scouts hope to sell 3,000 boxes of cookies. Each box is neatly sealed. There are 44 "official cookies" in each box—meaning they are made especially for the Girl Scouts and they will sell for 25 cents a box.

Sales In Other Cities.

The sale in Mansfield has been sanctioned by the Community Fund, and nationally by National Girl Scouts, Inc. Scout groups over the country are staging similar sales, as part of the observance of the founding of the organization, and will use the fund in ways similar to that planned by the Mansfield Scouts.

Orders will be taken from March 8 to 18, and an effort will be made to contact every home in the city. There will be no canvassing on downtown streets, but sale booths in charge of Scouts in uniform will be located in the Third and Fourth street markets and in the Montgomery-Ward store.

The cookies ordered in the house-to-house canvass will be delivered and collected for on March 30, 31 and April 1.

Mrs. John W. Graham is chairman of the cookie week committee. Serving with her on the committee are Mrs. Carl Gibson, Mrs. William Layton, Mrs. Roger Black and Miss Eleanor Bond.

They Head Scout Cookie Sale

The five women pictured above are in charge of the Girl Scout cookie sale in Mansfield, opening Friday and continuing through March 18. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. John W. Graham, Mrs. William Layton, and Miss Eleanor Bond, executive Scout secretary. Standing are Mrs. Roger A. Black, left, and Mrs. Carl Gibson. All are executives in the Girl Scout council. Mrs. Graham is chairman of the cookie sale campaign.

EXPERTS FIND MORE DANGER ZONES IN MINE

(By United Press)

SHENANDOAH, Pa. — New sinkings added to the hazards of this anthracite city today as two new danger spots were revealed in sections not yet affected by the 24-block cave-in of Monday.

Ever-widening fissures gave rise to fears that many of the damaged building might collapse. City authorities roped off the Gozinsky building, which was condemned after an inspection revealed it was near collapse.

Residents in the devastated area reported that some fissues widened as much as three and four inches during the night. Mining experts estimate that the settlement may continue for another six months.

As a committee of 17 experts risked their lives for a second time when they descended into the diggings under the affected area for the second time this morning, it was revealed that two other cave-ins were imminent in other sections of this mining town of 21,000.

One is in the south section of the city, where the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, the world's largest anthracite producer, has extensive diggings, and the other on the fringe of the area damaged by Monday's cave-in.

Councilman William Maximonis revealed that timbers in some sections of the mines which have been abandoned in the south section are rotting and that their collapse would affect an area of about 10 blocks.

Residence Area Endangered.

The same situation, city officials disclosed, prevails in the extreme northeast section of the city, where a mine was abandoned 30 years ago. Unless the supporting timbers are re-inforced, a collapse of some 40 to 45 feet will result, they said. A settlement there would affect about two blocks of residential dwellings.

At the same time, they added, there appeared little that could be done to bolster the weak supports.

There are other worked-out mines under the outskirts of the city but because they were abandoned only recently the barrier supports still are in good condition, inspections revealed.

PICKS BOARD TO LEVY COSTS ON SEWER PROJECT

Council Names 3-Member Group to Decide Assessments of Property Owners.

A three-member board to determine the assessment to be levied against property owners on Cook road and Woodhill road for the construction of a sanitary sewer last year was named last night by city council.

John Denny, James Anderson and George Hout were appointed to estimate the assessment costs and a $5 fee was provided for each.

Other miscellaneous business transacted included the settlement of a claim for $96 damages to Robert Durkin for damages to his automobile which dropped into an open manhole on West Fifth street last year.

Payment of a claim for $14.42 to John Kuelling for damages to his machine which ran into an open ditch on West Fourth street early last month was approved.

Authorizes Sewer Work.

An ordinance calling for a $500 appropriation to continue construction of a new pavement at the garbage disposal plant was tabled, when finance committee members raised an objection to taking the money from the street repair funds.

C. N. Shultz suggested that the appropriation be made from a special PWA landscaping fund set aside for the sewage disposal plant.

Claims submitted by H. B. Albers, 30 Lexington avenue, for $32.26, and John Mastrek, Oak street road, for $3.65 for damages to their automobiles from dropping into street openings was referred to the claims committee.

A petition from the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association for rolling and seeding of runways at the municipal airport was referred to the service-safety director.

O. S. R. FUGITIVE HELD IN ROBBERY

Youth Who Escaped Last Year Accused of Holding Up Postal Sub-Station.

A fugitive from the Ohio State Reformatory was back in the hands of the law today, this time with the federal government as his accuser.

Joseph Moses, 22, who escaped from the farm of the Mansfield Reformatory on July 10, 1939, was arrested in Cleveland today for the Sunday morning robbery of a postal sub-station.

His accomplice, Walter Byomin, 22, who was paroled from the Mansfield institution last September, also will face a postal robbery charge.

Moses, who was admitted to the Mansfield institution on Feb. 11, 1938 on robbery charges from Cuyahoga county, was arrested at his rooming house.

Police said he admitted the hold-up of an East side Cleveland drug store in which he and his accomplice obtained $150 in postal funds and $100 in store receipts.

They said he also confessed that he was the robber who held up a restaurant in Geauga county, Dec. 31, only to be pursued by Mayor George N. McIlroy of Middlefield and his daughter.

The mayor and his daughter Edna, 18, walked into the restaurant while Moses was robbing it and fired several shots which pitched the Moses car after a six-mile chase through the country. In a hand to hand encounter, the gunman wrested McIlroy's gun from him and fled in his car.

Reformatory officials said they would waive their claim to Moses in favor of the federal authorities.

CLAIM WELLES SEES NO HOPE OF PEACE NOW

French Believe U. S. Envoy Is Already Convinced War Can't End at Present.

(By United Press)

PARIS — French sources expressed belief today that Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's special envoy to Europe, would arrive here tomorrow already convinced that there is no present chance for peace, and that hence French and British leaders would be spared the embarrassment of being diplomatic killjoys to any peace hopes.

Welles arrives from Lausanne, Switzerland, about noon (6 a. m. EST) tomorrow, in a special car sent for him by the government. He is to remain here tomorrow, Friday and Saturday and fly to London by regular commercial airplane Sunday, to remain there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Premier Edouard Daladier is also foreign minister and war minister so that he was in position to give Welles all the information he desired. But it was believed that Welles would see Finance Minister Paul Reynaud, No. 2 man in the cabinet, and perhaps others. Reynaud had the leading role in creating a French-British financial bloc.

It was indicated that Welles would find French leaders frank. It was now realized that he had not been sent over here to advance any peace ideas which from the Allied viewpoint would be premature and could only, on the basis of Germany's expressed war aims, favor Germany. Instead official circles said that France was grateful to the president for sending Welles, because it would be possible to have a frank exchange of information such as is indispensable if neutrals are to be kept fully informed of the Allies' war aims.

Premier Daladier, despite the pressure on him as premier and foreign and war minister, arranged to keep tomorrow and Friday open so he would be available to Welles at all times. Normally communicative, he has maintained a silence more firm as the hour for Welles' arrival approached.

NEW PLEA FOR WEST SIDE SPAN GIVEN COUNCIL

A new request was before city council today for the construction of a viaduct on Mansfield's west side to serve as a connecting link to the northern part of the city.

Citing the dangers encountered by some 300 children who daily must cross two railroads on their way to and from senior high school, a delegation from the Bowman school Mother's club last night asked council to consider a span that would link Rowland avenue with Howard street.

The plea for a north-to-west passage across the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railroads has been made frequently by Third Ward Councilman George Kyle.

Suggestion that council consider such a project was made by former Mayor Claude M. Hunter two years ago when he took office. Hunter said that a property owner holding part of the land in the vicinity of Howard street had agreed to turn over the property to the city for a viaduct.

However, no move has yet been made by council to even study the proposal.

Terming the construction of a viaduct as a "very important proposal" Mrs. Kenneth Bell, spokesman for the Mothers club told council that as an alternative the city should consider making an improved road across the railroad's right of way to provide for traffic.

Mrs. Bell said that frequent cases of school girls being molested as they cut across the tracks to and from school had been reported and that only recently the children had been advised by railroad authorities that there was a penalty for trespassing on its property.

She also pointed to the need of an overhead span so that fire apparatus and ambulances responding to north side emergencies would not be held up by trains at the North Main and Mulberry street crossings.

BRITISH SEIZE MORE ITALIAN COAL VESSELS

'No Reprisal,' British Say.

The trade went uninterrupted until Saturday morning, when the British clamped down. Sources close to the ministry of economic warfare said last week this was "not in any way a reprisal for the temporary difficulties which have arisen in British-Italian commercial and finnacial talks in Rome."

A source close to the British foreign office added last night that Britain was "not inclined to view the matter as a 'crisis' or anything like it."

(In Rome, however, authoritative Italians declared the actual seizure of the coal ships tended to bring the relations to a crisis.

(Stoppage of the trade negotiations and the present coal blockade are the first evidences of disharmony between Italy and Britain since the war began.)

British Embassy In Rome Under Guard.

ROME—(AP)—Extra police were stationed near the British embassy today as a precaution against possible Italian demonstrations against Britain's seizure of German coal cargoes aboard Italian ships.

The demonstrations failed to take place, however. There had been rumors that students were planning to organize them.

Students attempted to gather before the British consulate in Florence yesterday, but police dispersed them immediately.

Seizure of Italian cargoes of German coal by British blockaders tends to bring relations between Rome and London to a crisis, authoritative Italians declared today.

Studying reports that British warships were escorting ship after ship into contraband control in application of the allies' two-way blockade to cover Italian fuel imports from Germany, authoritative quarters declared:

"It has complicated and made the Italian-British dispute more acute.

Nazis Say 20 British Troops Killed at Front.

BERLIN—(AP)—Twenty British soldiers were killed and 16 taken prisoner on the western front yesterday morning when German troops stormed a British dugout in the Moselle sector, the German official news agency, DNB, reported today.

The German high command's daily communique told only of the capture of the 16 prisoners. Elucidating, DNB said they were members of the Duke of Cornwall's infantry regiment and told other details of the clash.

A hectic exchange of hand grenade and artillery fire preceded the dugout storming, according to DNB, and the English left 20 dead on the scene, while the Germans lost only one man.

PARIS—(AP)—French and British troops withstood small but savage German attacks after considerable fighting on the western front yesterday, the French command reported today.

The Germans attacked a British post and French outposts west of the Vosges, the French said.

British prisoners were taken by a German raiding party, according to a British general headquarters communique. Two British soldiers were killed and one wounded, along with one German fatality, it was said.

The British communique was the first to report any British land action since the Tommies arrived at the active front.

Claim Reds Leave 'Heaps of Dead' In Viipuri Rout.

HELSINKI — (INS) — Leaving "heaps of dead," immense Russian forces aided by airplanes, motor sledges, tanks, and artillery, were beaten back by Finnish reinforcements today as the Red army vainly tried to smash Viipuri in the jaws of two wide flanking movements.

"West of the Carelian isthmus Russian attacks over the ice of Viipuri bay were repulsed," a communique telling briefly of the bitter struggles said.

"The Russians were supported by aircraft, tanks, sledges, and artillery.

"Between the bay and Vuoksen, the enemy attacked at many points, the most violent being in the region of Pollakkarla.

PLANS SCHOOL

SHELBY — Plans for a drill school for volunteer firemen in this city were revealed today by Fire Chief Eugene Schull. The school will open next summer at the fire station.

An ordinance passed by city council last year permits the city to pay the volunteer firemen $1 for every meeting of the school that they attend, Schull pointed out. Some 10 volunteer firemen will be eligible to attend the school.

'Control Point' In Johnny Appleseed School

SHELBY RELIEF COSTS INCREASE

SHELBY— Relief expenditures in Shelby for February were approximately $1,150, or $50 higher than funds spent during January, the monthly report compiled by Public Welfare Clerk Mason Freeman, showed today. In January expenditures were listed at some $1,100, Freeman said.

The increase was due, Freeman said, to the addition of three families to relief rolls during the month.

A waterfall estimated to be 5,000 feet high was sighted from a plane in the British Guiana jungle.

IN THE SPRING a young man's fancy lightly turns to love—and very likely to thoughts of something new to wear in the Easter parade (which, incidentally, is little more than three week-ends away). . . . All styles of soft tweeds are leading the field for suits, with worsted cloths and gabardines following close behind. . . . Blue is THE color—and the most important shade of it is a dark powder blue. . . . Light browns and tans are next on the gentlemen's color chart, with last year's popular green taking a back seat this season. . . . Three button, single breasted closings are being featured, with only a few double breasted models being shown.

There's been a big change in men's hats for the coming spring and summer with larger brims very much in evidence—in fact, some of them are as wide as three inches. . . . They come in newer, lighter shades with welted, bound or raw edges. . . . The bands are regular, narrow or pleated, while most of the crowns are tailored—although a few porkpies are being shown.

* * *

Of course you'll want to give an Easter gift to your best girl, and the stores are full of suggestions for the occasion. . . . There are large bottles of cologne and small packages of perfume all wrapped up in pink paper printed with white bunnies and tied with white satin ribbons. . . . The popular bubble bath is dressed up for Easter too—in pastel tinted packages decorated with gay little rabbits and bubbles. . . . A leading manufacturer of perfumes has introduced his popular purse make-up kits in some lovely new shades for the spring season—pinwheel pink and blue are especially pretty, as is purple iris. . . . These are scented with Duchess of York sachet and each contains a tiny bottle of matching cologne. . . . Little satin Easter eggs in soft pastel shades made cute little gifts, because they have little flacons of perfume inside.

JUST about the time you think there's nothing new under the sun, something like the parabrella comes along to surprise you. . . . Some of these parabrellas (really silk umbrellas which hark back to the parasol days) are of bright printed silk trimmed with ruffles, while others which come in black or navy, have white striped centers and white ruffles around the edges. . . . And there's a special Scarlett O'Hara umbrella too—this is of black silk with a red lining and red handle. . . . Oh yes, and I mustn't forget the stroller—another silk umbrella, which can be purchased in black or navy, having a bamboo handle with a cane top, so that it can be used as a walking stick between showers.

JEWELED ACCESSORIES: Any dress will take on a more attractive air, if you brighten it up with a sparkling necklace, clip or bracelet. . . . Some of the prettiest of these have pastel moonstone flowers with enameled green leaves on a silver base. . . . And a lapel gadget will be just the thing for your new spring suit. . . . Gold or silver wheelbarrows filled with bright colored jewel flowers are smart as is the little gold clown blowing bubbles (these are little iridescent bubbles). . . . Then there are gay little jewel and enamel boy and girl figures, representative of various countries such as Holland and Spain.

NO MATTER how much we want spring, the cold March winds are still blowing—and consequently playing havoc with our hands. . . . But there's really no cause to be alarmed, because a famous nail enamel house has introduced a new "Clock 'Round" hand kit to help your hands stay alluringly soft and white. . . . This is a set of non-sticky hand lotion for daytime, and a hand massage cream with washable mitts for sleep-time. . . . A delightful combination for having and holding lovely hands.

HOSTESS HINTS: Did you know that you now can have a perky little apron to match your card table cover? Made of figured and plain pliofilm, these cute ensembles come in red, yellow and green, and are sure to make a hit at your next club meeting . . . Some new leatheroid card table covers in red, gold or purple, trimmed with floral scrolls, will prove attractive and practical because they're washable and won't spill.

Australian Talks to Federation at Lecture-Luncheon

Dr. James Marshall, native of Australia, spoke to members of the Mansfield Federation of Women at the Ohio theater yesterday at 11 a. m. on "Modern Australia." He was introduced by Mrs. Lester Redding, president. After contrasting the bird and animal life of Australia with that of the United States the speaker turned to a political and economic discussion.

He told his audience that there was no where in the United States where native animals or birds were similar to those of Australia. The only ones we have that are natives of the distant continent are in zoos.

However politically and governmentally we are similar. In fact the Australian constitution is copied word for word from ours in some parts. They have a basic wage idea for solving their economic problems similar to our minimum wage.

The speaker also commented on our foreign policy, and spoke briefly about our domestic situation. In that respect he stated that partisanship was our biggest problem. The next regular meeting of the Federation will be a luncheon- bridge party at the club house on March 29.

Following the lecture an open forum was held, and luncheon was served at the Women's Club at 1 p. m.

ADD MEMORIAL BOOK TO LIBRARY SHELVES

Sorosis Makes Gift; Papers on South Seas, Lace Making Given By Mrs. Hieber, Mrs. Heim at Women's Club.

ANOTHER BOOK was placed on the memorial shelf at the Mansfield Public library by the Sorosis, it was announced today following the regular meeting which was held with Mrs. O. G. Place at the Women's Club last night. The book is "The Secret Journal of Dr. Hudson" by Lloyd Douglas, and it is in memory of Miss Helen Rhoads.

The program on "South Sea Islands" was given by Mrs. M. W. Hieber. She touched on each of the major islands, telling of the characteristic factors. Bali, according to the speaker, climaxes the other islands in natural beauty, and is renowned for its graceful and charming women. They live by their religion, dancing being a form of religious rite, and they are considered among the most skillful engineers.

Easter island has long been considered mysterious because of the stone idols placed on the shore, while Pitcairn is noted for the healthful climate. Falcon is the newest, and it has a habit of appearing and disappearing as a result of erosion conditions.

Mrs. Carl Heim had the second paper on "Lace Making In America." Until 45 years ago all lace was handmade, but now it is machine-made to a great extent. "In texture, quality and fashion it is just as fine as handmade lace, and from the standpoint of cleanliness and sanitation much better," Mrs. Heim stated.

The lace-making industry began at Ipswich, Mass., and the first machinery for making lace was imported in tubs of butter from England because of the high tariffs imposed.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Wouldn't you know I'd forget that after-meal dope the doctor ordered?" Lillian exclaimed with creditably simulated exasperation. "If you'll excuse me, I'll rush over and swallow it now. It won't take me a minute, and I'll be right back."

"We'll struggle hard to excuse you," I said smiling.

I waited only until the door closed after Lillian before going over to Edith, putting my hand upon her shoulder.

"You're living in the past too much, Ede," I said, trying to keep my tones matter-of-fact. "And you're taking what has happened much too seriously. Another thing You know very well that you are welcome to stay here indefinitely, and that no one of us would permit you to leave until there is no more danger to you outside the farm gates. So don't think of that angle of this affair any more, please!"

Her facial muscles twitched nervously, and her eyes were suddenly brimmed with tears.

"You are too good to me, Madge," she said, and there was every evidence of sincerity in her voice. "When I think—"

"Don't think!" I interrupted. "That's just what I mean. You're wasting time in futile regrets which might far better bespent in planning for the future."

There were no tears in her eyes when she replied to that last speech of mine. Instead, her expression held heat and bitterness.

"Future!" she said. "My future. That's a good one, Madge! There's probably nobody in the world with a bleaker future than I."

"The Authority on Authorities"

IS IT THE LOWEST

EVEN IF your partner's card on your opening lead is an eight or nine spot, you should not necessarily read it as encouraging, suggesting that you repeat the suit. The paramount question is whether or not you read it as the lowest he holds. If you decide that he probably has a lower card or cards, then you can reckon that he played a higher-than-necessary card seeking another lead of the suit. But, no matter how high it is, if you figure him to hold no lower ones, then you may treat it is discouraging, suggesting tht you shift suits.

In the West during this deal sat a young player of promise who had not been at the game very long. She had just about arrived at the stage in her instruction at which she knew the conventional leads and had been taught the main fundamentals about teamwork between partners. Among these was that a high card from your partner indicated a desire for repeat of the suit led and a low one betokens a shift.

She properly led her heart K to take the opening trick. When she saw East's 7, a fairly high card, she repeated, laying down the A, which declarer ruffed. The declarer promptly dropped the trumps, discarded a club on the set-up heart Q and conceded a diamond trick, ruffing her other diamond and so making an overtrick. West learned her important lesson cheaply, at the mere cost of an overtrick, not of a game. Since the 7 was the lowest heart out of sight, after declarer played the 3, it was a discouraging card and West should have shifted. Had she realized that, she would have shifted to a club and the heart Q never would have been set up for the declarer.

Roosevelt Assails Census Opposition as 'Political'

FOES ANSWER WITH CRY OF SMOKE SCREEN

Chief Opponent of Queries in Census Says President 'Covers Up' Real Motive.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The census controversy swept from capitol hall to the White House and back again today, with President Roosevelt describing efforts to strike out personal income questions as "political" and Senator Tobey (R-NH) terming that statement a "smoke screen."

Discussing Tobey's resolution to eliminate the queries before the nationwide census begins April 1, the chief executive told reporters late yesterday:

"The whole thing is a political move. Everybody accredited to congress knows that is the sole motive."

Tobey promptly replied that "as a purveyor and producer of politics, the president is a past master, but in his statement he creates a smoke screen to cover it up."

The argument even included a jesting comment from the president that the census taker might be the first to learn his third term plan.

After Mr. Roosevelt jovially turned aside direct press conference questions about his political intentions, reporters told him of a newspaper cartoon inquiring whether he had a mortgage on the White House.

The president solemnly said that he might answer the question if a real census taker asked it. But even such a scoop couldn't be printed, he added, for census returns are confidential.

Silent On Statement.

The chief executive said he had not read a column by Ernest K. Lindley quoting an unnamed southern congressman as saying that Mr. Roosevelt wished to retire and regarded Secretary Hull as a desirable successor.

Asked whether the story was true, the president referred to another newspaper column quoting Thomas Jefferson as defining newspaper material as either news, probabilities, possibilities or lies. He declined to say in which category Lindley's column belonged.

Asked about the Democratic senatorial contest in Pennsylvania, he said he knew nothing of it because he had just returned from a cruise. He made the same reply to a question as to whether he would withdraw his name from the Pennsylvania presidential primary.

The president expressed the hope that Senator Donahey (D., Ohio) would reconsider his decision to retire from public life and would run either for senator or governor.

Dutch Sub Sinks, Comes Up Again; Crew of 30 Safe

AMSTERDAM —(AP)— The Netherlands submarine O-11 was sunk in a collision with a tugboat in the Nieuw Diep today, but a daring rescue helped save all except two of the crew of about 30.

The submarine was cruising on the surface at the Denhelder naval harbor preparing to go to sea when rammed amidships by the tug Amsterdam.

About 10 men on deck sprang clear and swam to the seawall.

Ten minutes later, a crowd gathered on the wall saw bubbles. Then the periscope appeared momentarily. After another 10 minutes, part of the stern emerged. Two naval officers in a nearby rescue boat leaped aboard the stern and managed to pry open a hatch and help the imprisoned crew to safety.

Later, it was announced officially only two men were missing. They were in the bow torpedo chamber. Tugs started salvage work.

(The O-11, built in 1925 and with a surface displacement of 453 tons, has a normal complement of 29 men according to Jane's Directory of fighting ships.)

The names of the board members are carved in the cornerstone and one said last night: "Even if I don't make my mark in this world, I'll still have my name in marble twice — once on the new school building and again on my monument."

BARES REPORT

Hull Orders Lifting of Ban on Mine Blast Findings.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in a precedent breaking move, today ordered the Bureau of Mines to make public its report on the federal investigation of the mine explosion at Bartley, W. Va., Jan. 10, in which 91 men were killed.

CIO officials had claimed that all efforts to obtain information on the report had been turned down by bureau officials.

The report of the investigation by bureau experts said it virtually was impossible to determine exactly where or how the explosion occurred, because of the "complexity of conditions and the fact that more than one explosion occurred."

FOIL OHIO PEN PLOT TO ESCAPE

Guards Find Hand-Made Rope in Woolen Mill; 6 Long-Termers Involved.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—A plot of six Ohio penitentiary prisoners to make a break over the prison's walls was revealed today by Warden Frank D. Henderson as he announced the discovery of a 30-foot hand-made rope.

Warden Henderson said he had been informed of the escape plot several weeks ago. His informer, Henderson said, claimed the six inmates had a large hook and "perhaps" a gun besides the rope.

In a raid on the woolen mill at the penitentiary, guards discovered the rope but failed to find either the hook or rumored gun.

Planners of the escape attempt, the warden said, were six long-term convicts who have been participants in frustrated breaks in recent years. He described them as "desperate."

Names of the plotters were not disclosed. Henderson said the ringleaders were known but their identity would not be revealed until all six had been rounded up.

According to Henderson's information, the convicts planned to rush the west wall of the prison, toss the rope with hook attached to the top of the wall and climb over.

Penitentiary officials pointed out that any such attempt probably would be frustrated by guards inasmuch as the convicts would have to cross an open area before gaining the wall. Tower guards would certainly have seen the convicts, they declared.

It has a two-fold purpose: to aid the miserable children of the world who are without homes and country; and to awaken in American children a sense of appreciation for the blessings that are theirs under a democratic form of government," she added.

"It is not the purpose of the crusade to take money from charitable and welfare work that is being done in this country for American children but rather to get children to make voluntary sacrifices of a few pennies which they are forttunate enough to have to spend for candy or picture shows."

MRS. ALBERT HEEKIN

Dorothy Canfield Fisher, American novelist, is national chairman Serving as sponsors of the crusade are outstanding education, literary, religious and civic leaders Among them are Eleanor Roosevelt, Monsignor John A. LAWMAKER HITS 'SLEIGH RIDE' FOR TAXPAYERS

Michigan Congressman Says Cost Increase Unjustified as Estimates Go Up.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Airplane manufacturers, swamped with war orders from European belligerents, were accused by a member of the house military affairs committee today of taking the taxpayers for a "sleigh ride" in filling contracts for this country's national defense program.

Rep. Paul W. Shafer, (R.-Mich.) charged in a statement that the increase in costs claimed by manufacturers was unjustified.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, told the military affairs committee yesterday that the costs of 2,100 plans ordered in the expansion program have exceeded original estimates by $20,000,000 or about $10,000 per plane.

He complained that the government was being forced to pay too much for planes because, he said, manufacturers were reluctant to delay war orders to complete the American program for fear they would lose the Allies' business.

"The plane manufacturers were all well satisfied with the profits they were making three or four months ago," Shafer said. "Why shouldn't they be satisfied now?

"The trouble is that they can sell all the planes they want to Europe and they are jacking up the price to the United States. They are taking the taxpayers for a sleigh ride."

Arnold, who seeks legislation authorizing the negotiation of contracts as a substitute for the present system of awarding them to low bidders, will appear before the committee again Friday.

Shafer renewed his demand for a commission to "determine a definite national defense objective for the United States and make recommendations to congress." He said plane procurement costs should be one subject for such a civilian commission.

Tony Martin's substitute for Alice Faye is a May-December romance. The new dream girl, years older than he, toils in a swank 57th street shoppe! . . . Liz (Mrs. Jock) Whitney will pow-wow with a N. George Brent has invited Ann Sheridan to move her oomph into his cottage, according to the Hollywood cavesdroppers, and nobody has heard her say no.

One of the most distinguished feminine members of British nobility currently visiting the U. S. will startle the international set with a divorce suit within a fortnight.

Frances Farmer and her attorney, Arthur Krim, look more like Cupid than Blackstone. . . . Sonja Henie's mother, who puts thumbs down on 99 per cent of the ice queen's matrimonial prospects, is said to have okayed Dan Topping.

Lee Wiley is nursing a fractured wrist she got in a fall. . . . Maxine Andrews, of the hi-vo-de-o sisters, and Lou Levy, who manages the trio, are secretly Mr. and Mrs.

Paul Draper, the dancer, and Arlene Whelan, of the flicks, are very warm for California. . . . Kirsten Flagstad, who frightened Wagner-lovers by announcing she would retire from the Met next season, won't. . . . They'll probably deny it, but Broadway keeps hearing that Mitzi Mayfair and her beverage-millionaire husband, Albert Hoffman, are ready to call it a day.

Edith Rogers Dahl, wife of the aviator, will undergo a serious operation. . . . The Al Jolson-Gloria Cook romance is so fiery he's had her conga troupe booked into a Hollywood spot, and she's told off her former heart-throb, who is carrying a gigantic torch. . . . The Boris Kostelanetzes (he's Andre's brother and asst. U. S. attorney) will lullaby around March 13.

Jean Cagney, Jimmy's sister, and Stan Rubin, Universal writer, are yum yum. . . . Tallulah Bankhead, whose heart used to belong to the Giants, is fixin' to buy a small baseball team. . . . Merry Fahrney Cassini swept in with a party and was put at the very next table to the Lowell Birrell's—Birrell being one of the gents named as correspondent in Merry's recent divorce suit! . . . Bradley Kelly, the KFS executive, is becoming an aviator.

Joe E. Lewis, the comic, and Jane Frazee, of the sister team, adore each other. . . . One of the country's better known baseball aces (better known around the night spots, too) is having a hard time getting back into form in Florida training, and his club manager, who knows all about the toddy and glamor, is scolding.

Jack Warner, jr., son of the celluloid tycoon, is cooing over the long distance wires to Joanne Brandon, the Powers model. . . . Aren't the Bob Pastors (he's the heavyweight contender) knitting tiny garments?

Art Coulter, the Rangers player, and Florence Shaw, one of the Bel Geddes' nudes at the Fair last year, are almost at the altar. . . . Film studios in France and England plan to resume full shooting schedules this Spring, war or no war. . . . What's this about Ed Wynn? The Stork club gossip has him courting Nini Havemeyer, Billy Livingston's mother. . . . Bill Vallee, Rudy's brother, and Virginia Dix, the model, are moonstruck. . . . Mike Fritzel, owner of Chicago's famous Chez Paris, will pull out his interest to open a new place on the site of the old Henri's.

The feature lads might interview William Tiffany Richardson, the blue bookie, who married Bonnie Claire, the showgirl. He has millions, but he'll work this year as stage manager for the St. Louis Municipal Opera—for $75 a week.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There's nothing to bring out the boys with the notebooks like the promise of Dignity taking a Tumble for the cameras.

So it was that a goodly throng of us assembled, the other bright sunny day, around the swimming pool of Pasadena's Visto del Arroyo hotel for an event that will go down in the archives as the Dunking of Dunne.

Miss Dunne, as heroine of "My Favorite Wife," was to engage in poolside-table repartee with Cary Grant and Randolph Scott, her two admirers, before stepping back and tripping in to the considerately warmed waters. Irene, for the occasion, looked lovely—in her smart grey dress trimmed in black, her jaunty fur hat with matching fur muff, her shining red-gold coiffure on which every hair was sleekly in place.

* * *

THERE was a scene to do first, of course—the business of the repartee. The business dragged on and the sun got lower and lower, and with it our hopes. Miss Dunne, between takes, looked over at our "gallery" and smiled—gamely, I thought, with a bit of we-who-are-about-to-die in it. Well, the sun got lower, the light changed, and they postponed the dunking until the next day. We wuz robbed.

* * *

WE WUZ robbed, but we had our memories.

Joyous, soul-satisfying slightly sadistic memories of past pleasures of the sort. We could recall that memorable Dietrich-Una Merkel tussle for "Destry Rides Again." There was something extra-special about that one, because Mar-lay-nah was ever the screen symbol of aloofness, remote glamour, unreal loveliness behind a veil or a fish-net. When Dietrich and Una socked and wrestled and tore at each other, they made history. When James Stewart settled the fight by dousing the pair with water, it was history a la mode.

It was not so much fun, although pleasant enough, when Alice Faye was made the target of assorted pastries for "Hollywood Cavalcade." Perhaps the dimmer on satisfaction was the knowledge that Alice never had been photographed behind veils and fish-nets, and that Alice never had been a remote movie goddess.

CAROLE LOMBARD, temporarily gone serious in her work for "Vigil in the Night," for a while there was queen of slapstick. Glamour never looked more bedraggled than Lombard's bid after those dunking sequences in "Nothing Sacred." That is, until Dietrich and "Destry."

There is something extremely humanizing about such scenes. Irene Dunne knows it. The Dunking of Dunne wouldn't be in there if Irene didn't like it.
